IMPORTANT NOTICE.

A MEETING of the Employers of Dock Labour at the Free State Ports was held in Dublin on TUESDAY, 3rd JULY, 1923, when the position as regards Rates of Wages and Conditions was reviewed, and they unanimously agreed, in the interests of all members of the community, to take steps to Adjust the Wages of the Dockers and other Workers whose Wages are regulated in relation thereto.

The rates of wages at present paid are much higher than elsewhere, thus placing the Employers and Industries generally at a serious disadvantage in comparison with Foreign competitors.

It will be apparent that the existence of these conditions reacts unfavourably on the general prosperity of the Country, thereby retarding the progress which is so vital to its welfare.

Every endeavour has been made to bring about a Wages Adjustment by mutual arrangement, and many Meetings with the Representatives of Labour have taken place, but without agreement being arrived at. During the period when wages were being advanced everywhere, Dock Workers in the Free State Ports received considerable increases; but, although the Dockers at other Ports have, by agreement since August, 1921, accepted reductions to the extent of 6/- per day, only two reductions of 1/- per day each have taken place at the Ports in the Free State. The Employers, having exhausted every means to adjust wages, passed the following Resolution unanimously:

"THAT Employers claim a reduction in Dockers' wages, making the wages at the rate of 10/- per day at the larger Ports and 9/- per day at the smaller Ports, with proportionate reductions in hourly overtime, tonnage and piece-work rates; and it is agreed that, on and from Monday, 16th July, 1923, a reduction of 2/- per day be put into operation; and that further reductions, of not less than 1/- per day and not more than 2/- per day, shall take effect on and from 15th October, 1923, and 1st January, 1924, respectively, so as to arrive at the daily rates of 10/- and 9/- referred to. It is further agreed that, in order to assist the free movement of traffic, the working conditions require revision."

A KINGSTOWN BONUS.—Kingstown Council last night discussed the bonus of £60 paid to the principal of its Technical Instruction Committee for acting as secretary to the Dalkey Technical Instruction Committee. By a vote of six to four the matter was postponed for six months.

BETTER POSTAL SERVICE WANTED.—Kingstown Urban Council last night directed the Town Clerk to request the Postmaster-General to arrange that the evening postal delivery should be extended to the whole district and to ask for a Saturday evening delivery, without, however, entailing a curtailment of any of the holidays to which the postal workers might be entitled.

"FOLLY" FRAUD ALLEGATIONS.—At Lurgan yesterday, William Jeffers, farmer, Ballymagranaghen, near Moira, Co. Down, was charged with obtaining money by false pretences from the Lurgan Unemployment Exchange on various dates in 1922. WEDNESDAY, JULY 4, 1923.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

In the Dail yesterday amendments to the Land Bill were debated. A proposal to invalidate proceedings which have been started since May 28th for the recovery of arrears of rent was defeated.

General Mulcahy, in the Dail yesterday, read the report of the International Red Cross delegation which visited the internment camps and prisons recently. The delegates said that they were "favourably impressed by what they had seen."

President Cosgrave has announced the terms of the financial agreement which the Government has made with the Board of Trinity College, and it has been approved by the Dail.

Employers of dock labour in all ports in the Free State give notice to-day of their intention to make further reductions in the wages of dockers. Yesterday three of the idle ships in Dublin port were taken to England.

The Munster Agricultural Society's Summer Show opened yesterday. The standard of the live and dead exhibits is very high. We publish the first day's awards.

GREAT BRITAIN.

At the trial of the seven Irish deportees in London yesterday on a charge of conspiracy two of the defendants were examined, and their case closed. The trial is expected to end to-morrow afternoon.

At the London Sessions yesterday the Duke of Leinster was found guilty of obtaining credit while he was an undischarged bankrupt. Sentence was postponed until next Sessions.

ABROAD

The League of Nations is to hold an inquiry into the administration of the Saar, as urged by the British Government. The wisdom of some of the orders of the Governing Commission, appointed by the League, have been questioned.

The "Swaraj" (Home Rule) agitation is extending in the Central Provinces of India, where a thousand arrests of ignorant dupes of the professional leaders have been made.

SPORTING.

At Newmarket yesterday Diophon won the July Stakes.

A Labour Crisis.

Not only the Port of Dublin, but every other port in the Free State, and, indeed, the State itself, are confronted to-day with an economic crisis of the gravest kind. The immediate trouble began with the seamen's strike in Dublin. Hitherto Dublin seamen have belonged to one of two trade unions—a native body which is a branch of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, and the National Union of Seamen and Firemen, which is co-extensive with the British mercantile marine and has some ninety thousand members. Last week the local union made the astonishing demand that every seaman employed by the Dublin companies must serve under its own banner. The demand was enforced by a strike which has thrown out of action the whole fleet of the British and Irish Steampacket Company. A conference was held on Monday evening, but no settlement was reached. Indeed, the strikers enlarged the ground of dispute by a further demand that a recent reduction of wages should be cancelled. Yesterday, therefore, Dublin prepared itself for a costly deadlock at the port. To-day we publish news of still sterner significance. The employers of dock labour in all the harbours of the Free State have decided that the present wages of dockers must be reduced without further delay to the level which obtains in all English and Scottish ports. They announce that the first "cut" will be enforced on Monday, the 16th July.

The employers have a clear case for the necessity of reduced wages at the Free State ports. At present the Dublin dockers get sixteen shillings a day, while the wage is 10s. a day at the vast docks of Liverpool and London, and 9s. in the smaller British ports. Many efforts to secure an agreed reduction have failed; but the employers have been very patient, partly through a desire to avoid ill-feeling and partly, no doubt, through unwillingness to embarrass the young Government of the Free State. Why, then, have they chosen this particular moment for the launching of their ultimatum? They are intelligent and experienced men and can be under no illusion concerning the probable result. The seamen's strike threatens to chastise Dublin with whips. A strike of dockers throughout the Free State would chastise the whole country with scorpions. It would seal every harbour in the twenty-six counties, from Dundalk to Cork and from Cork to Westport. It would paralyse trade, would inflict grievous suffering on all classes, and might become a menace to public order. We must assume that the employers have taken all these things into account and are acting after the fullest deliberation. They have concluded, we may suppose, that the Irish Transport Workers' Union, under its present control or lack of control, has ceased to be a body with which practical men can do business. In precipitating this conflict they say to the Government and people of the Free State: "Labour has run amuck. Deal with it yourselves."

Of course, the employers cannot shift all their responsibilities to the country and the Government. They are citizens as well as employers, and must make every possible effort to maintain the communications on which the people's food and work depend. In this crisis, however, the Government and people have definite responsibilities. We may assume that the Government will strain every nerve to settle the seamen's strike and to avert a far-reaching conflict on the wages question. The first necessity is that both Government and people shall possess—what they do not possess now—a clear knowledge of the mind and policy of Irish Labour. Does Labour, as a whole, endorse the policy which has produced the seamen's strike and has kept dock wages at an unnatural and uneconomic level? Do Mr. Thomas Johnson and his colleagues of the Labour Party in Dail Eireann endorse this policy and are they prepared to support it to the bitter end? In view of the coming election the country is entitled to full information on this point. Is the policy which has provoked the employers' ultimatum the official policy of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union? If it is, in fact, an unofficial and unauthorised policy, are the official leaders ready to disavow it and to throw all their influence on the side of settlement? The danger of the crisis is increased by the obscurity of its causes, and Dail Eireann will serve the country by demanding explanations that will reveal the true purposes of Irish Labour. One thing is certain. If economic anarchy triumphs now, it will raise its victorious head upon the ruins of the Free State.

The Saar Basin.

Lord Robert Cecil's speech at the meeting of the Council of the League of Nations, at Geneva yesterday, was a political event of the first importance. During recent months the administration of the Saar Basin has been a source of some anxiety in Allied circles, and the complaints of the inhabitants became so serious that the British Government decided to raise the whole question at the League Council. Lord Robert Cecil went specially to Geneva to lay Britain's views before the League. The Saar Basin, by virtue of the Versailles Treaty, is being governed for a period of fifteen years by a Commission which was appointed by the League of Nations and is responsible only to that body. The twin tasks of the Commission are to look after the welfare of the people of the Saar territory, with whose normal activities as German citizens the Treaty provides that there must be no interference, and to secure for France the full output of the rich coal mines. Apparently, the Commission has been going a long way beyond its brief; and, instead of taking orders from the League of Nations, it seems to have been carrying out the instructions of the French Government. The Treaty stipulates that there shall be no military forces in the Saar Basin and that order shall be kept by a local gendarmerie; yet the area is policed by French soldiers, and, after three years, the Commission has succeeded in raising only one hundred and fifty policemen. Furthermore, the strict letter of the Treaty decrees that the people of the Saar shall be allowed to retain all their local assemblies and councils without let or hindrance, and that the Commission shall make no change in the existing laws of the territory without previous consultation with these bodies. This provision seems to have been ignored altogether by the Commission. Many other complaints have been received both by the British Government and by the League of Nations, and Lord Robert Cecil's demand for an inquiry has the unanimous support of His Majesty's Government. Every complaint against the Saar Commission is a complaint against the League itself, and the Council cannot afford to allow the world's judgment to go against it by default. The League of Nations, as Lord Robert Cecil said yesterday, must stand or fall by the "justice and impartiality" of its work; and, if half the stories about the Saar Basin are true, the administration of the territory by the League's paid agents is neither just nor impartial. Lord Robert Cecil proposes that all the members of the Saar Commission shall be invited to attend at Geneva, where they will be required to give a full account of their stewardship. If they are found to have acted correctly in the discharge of their duties, the Council of the League must be prepared to defend them against the charges which have been preferred against them. If, on the other hand, they have contravened either the letter or the spirit of the Treaty of Versailles, disciplinary action must be taken without delay.

Dialectics.

The appeal of Mr. Baldwin, Britain's Conservative Prime Minister, for propaganda as a weapon in the war against Socialism, is of more than political interest. The world always has been divided into two classes of thinker—the conservative and the radical, the man to whom the past generally looks better than the present feels, and the man who believes that it is better to be doing something than to have done it. It is possible to praise or condemn either philosophy—and most of us do praise one and condemn the other—because the final appeal is to temperament and not to fact. We may note, however, that, if we take the history of the world as a whole, the conservatives have occupied the rôle of Tom Tiddler, while the radicals have undertaken the not altogether satisfying task of invading his ground and grabbing unprotected handfuls of his silver and gold. The result of this general arrangement has been that the conservative, having no particular occasion to make an outcry, has become more or less dumb, or at least ponderous, in the rare moments when he really is called upon to defend his position by argument. The radical, on the other hand, with long and fervent practice, has become a seven days' wonder alike in respect to the loudness, the persistency and the ingenuity with which he vociferates his claims. It will be so in the encounter to which Mr. Baldwin now rallies his followers. The Duke of Northumberland never will be a match for Mr. Sidney Webb or Viscount Curzon for Mr. Jack Jones. On the other hand, dialectics never will replace Lombard street by the Fabian Society.

Weapons of War.

Even if France's new "manless bomber" is all that its inventor claims for it, we need not assume that her aerial forces are rendered superior to all others by the possession of this advanced engine of destruction. As the Great War proved so tragically, human flesh and blood are, in relation to the results which they achieve, the cheapest and most economical of all war materials. In the next war, whenever it comes, this condition will be even more marked; for the world will be more thickly populated than it is now, and races that were unable to participate in the last carnage are likely to be given their chance in the next. Wherefore the nation that excels its adversary only in the matter of ability to launch a manless bomber, where the adversary must send forth a human counterpart, will have no great advantage. The manless bomber, when all is said, is only a multiple shell directed by "wireless"; and by the time when the next war arrives it may be possible to guide shells, shot from guns, to their home in the enemy's camp by "wireless" without the intervention of an aeroplane. In other respects, a manless aeroplane is of little use to anybody, since the fundamental purpose of all aircraft is to carry more people, not fewer. The new invention is interesting, however, as affording fresh and striking proof that the only military engines that develop rapidly are those which are borrowed from the panoply of peace. Mars is a dull and lazy brute. Only when he raids the smithy of Vulcan or the laboratory of Apollo does he find the wherewithal to improve his trade.

DOCKERS WAGES CUT

FREE STATE EMPLOYERS' ACTION LAST NIGHT.

THREE INSTALMENTS BEFORE JANUARY.

IDLE SHIPS TAKEN FROM DUBLIN: BRITISH DOCKERS OUT.

The situation which arose at the port of Dublin last week, when sailors and firemen of the British and Irish Steam Packet Company who are members of the marine branch of the Irish Transport Union ceased work because the company had engaged the services of members of the National Union of Sailors and Firemen on one of their boats, has reached an acute stage.

Yesterday three of the ten idle ships of the company in the Liffey were taken to England, and it is believed that the remaining seven steamers will shortly be removed. The strike has already affected the employment of dockers, nearly 1,000 of whom are said to be idle.

An announcement which is made to-day by the employers of dock labur at the Free State ports will, doubtless, bring the question of the strike into greater prominence. It affects employment not only at the Dublin docks, but at every port in the Free State.

The employers insist that the wages paid to dockers in ports in the Free State shall be brought near the level of those paid across the water, and, on the 16th instant, a reduction of 2/- per day will be put into operation, with smaller reductions on October 15th next and January 15, 1925.

DOCKERS' WAGES.

NEW RATES IN FREE STATE PORTS.

The following notice is issued to-day on behalf of employers of dock labour at all ports in the Free State:—

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

A meeting of the employers of dock labour in the Free State ports was held in Dublin on Tuesday, 3rd July, 1923, when the position as regards rates of wages and conditions of labour was reviewed, and they unanimously agreed, in the interests of all members of the community, to take steps to adjust the wages of the dockers and other workers whose wages are regulated in relation thereto.

The rates of wages at present paid are much higher than elsewhere, thus placing the employers and industries generally at a serious disadvantage in comparison with foreign competitors.

It will be apparent that the existence of these conditions reacts unfavourably on the general prosperity of the country, thereby retarding the progress which is so vital to its welfare.

Every endeavour has been made to bring about a wages adjustment by mutual arrangement, and many meetings with the representatives of Labour have taken place, but without agreement being arrived at. During this period wages were being advanced to everybody's dock workers in the Free State and received considerable increases; but, although the dockers at other ports have, by agreement since August, 1921, accepted reductions to the extent of 6s. per day, only reductions of 1s. per day each have taken place at the ports in the Free State. The employers, having exhausted every means to adjust wages, passed the following resolution unanimously:—

That employers claim a reduction in dockers' wages making the wages at the rate of 6s. per day at the larger ports and 9s. per day at the smaller ports, with proportionate reductions in hourly overtime, tonnage and piece-work rates; and it is agreed that, on and from Monday, 16th July, 1923, a reduction of 2s. per day be put into operation; and that further reductions, of not less than 1s. per day and not more than 2s. per day, shall take effect on and from 15th October, 1923, and 1st January, 1924, respectively, so as to arrive at the daily rates of 10s. and 9s. as referred to. It is further agreed that, in order to assist the free movement of traffic, the working conditions require revision."

SURPRISE AT THE PORT.

THREE STEAMERS SLIP AWAY.

The only development of the strike yesterday was the removal of three of the British and Irish Company's steamers which have been lying idle in the Liffey for several days to England. Fourteen seamen arrived at Kingstown by the morning mail boat, and boarded two of the Liffey, where they boarded the two of the steamers—the Lady Emerald, the Lady Meath, and the Bandon.

The Lady Emerald, which had some cargo on board, sailed for London at 6 o'clock with a full crew, and a little later the Lady Meath and the Bandon left for Liverpool. Others of the British and Irish Line vessels in the port had steam up yesterday, and it was generally believed that two or three of them would be sailed that night or early this morning.

Fleets were on duty on both sides of the river during the night, and a body of the Metropolitan Police kept watch near the dock gates.

A first foreign steamer to feel the effect of the strike was the ss. Theano, from Rotterdam, which brought a cargo of general goods to the Liffey on Monday. Yesterday on account of the composition of her crew the casual dockers stood aside. The Theano belongs to Dutch owners, but is at present chartered by the Ulster Steamship Company, Belfast. Last night she left Dublin for Bast.

The Burns Laird Line passenger and goods steamer Maple arrived at North Wall from Glasgow and Greenock yesterday morning, and sailed on her return trip.

The London, Midland, and Scottish Company intended itself with sailing two goods and steamers from North Wall to Holyhead yerday. There have been fifteen sailings this line since Thursday last to the Anglesport.

The allygally Head, an ocean-going steamer of the Head Line, is at present discharging cargo at the end of the South Wall, with a small nucleus crew aboard awaiting orders, he ss. Finola, from Boulogne and Havre, d arrived yesterday morning with general ods and wines from France. She was notfected by the dispute, nor was the ss. Patri, of the same line.

DLE DOCKERS.

ORIN OF THE STRIKE.

It was ated at the port yesterday that between 00 and 1,200 men are already idle, and that seamen are now demanding the restoration of the six shillings which were taken from their wages some time ago. The trouble as on 23rd June, when the British and Irish oats were held up, following a strike on part of the crews of the ss. Lady Killiney a the ss. Bandon. The men refused to go to as a protest against the engagement of men from the National Union of Sailors d Firemen and only two from the Irish Transport Workers' Union, forming the company's crew steamer, ss. Lady Louth. It is stated t when members of both unions were being gned on for the new ship there were no olications on either side. An hour afterwards crew of the ss. Lady Killiney afterwards the crew of the ss. Lady Iney gave twenty-four hours' not of the termination of their services, aing that the majority of the men who h been engaged for the ss. Louth and belong to the National Union were deliberately lected.

The mem of the Seamen's and Firemen's Sectis of the Transport Union claim that they shld have the exclusive right to man vessels on the cross-Channel services registered in Dublin, and their clair is opposed, not only by the shipping companies, but by the men who belong to the National Union. The shipping companies contend that they are not bound to employ men belonging to any particular union, and that they are entitled to a free hand in the selection of crews for their own vessels.

ENGLISH DOCKERS OUT.

LEADERS' APPEAL IGNORED.

The Hull dockers have not resumed work and great dislocation is being experienced. Yesterday a number of vessels were held up. Four thousand packages of fruit from the Continent remained on board the ships, and merchants employed their own staffs to get them landed. The unloading of two Danish butter ships is being held up.

The employers state that the strike must have a disastrous effect on the port, as they are not able to depart from the national agreement governing wages.

The Hull Transport Workers' Committee yesterday afternoon issued an appeal to the dockers on strike to return to work this morning, fearing that a continuation of the stoppage would jeopardise future national negotiations. A meeting of four thousand dockers last night, however, unanimously decided to ignore the appeal.

AN UNOFFICIAL STRIKE.

SHIPS HELD UP IN LONDON.

The dockers' strike extended to London yesterday, a number of boats containing foodstuffs, fruit, and other perishable goods being held up. Transport Union officials are investigating the matter, as the strike is unauthorised and is directed against a shilling reduction in wages which was brought into operation by the national agreement.

The strike also extended to Avonmouth yesterday.

Grimsby dock strikers were joined by men from Immingham yesterday. The employers have expressed their willingness to meet the local officials of the union, but not the Strike Committee.

BELFAST SHIPYARD WAGES

APPLICATION FOR INCREASE REFUSED.

The application for an increase of £1 per week in the wages of members of the trades associated with the Engineering and Shipbuilding Trades Federation was considered at a conference with the shipbuilding firms yesterday. There was a full and friendly discussion, and at the close it was stated, on behalf of the employers, that in the present condition of the shipbuilding industry it would be impossible to grant any advance of wages.

A rise of wages, it was said, could be followed by a suspension of work, as certain contracts had been entered into on the basis of the present rates, and if the cost were increased the owners of the vessels concerned would feel themselves constrained to change their plans.

The members of the deputation replied that they appreciated the position from the employers point of view, but the workers were at present at a great disadvantage in regard to their earnings owing to the high cost of living.

The result of the conference will be communicated by the District Committee to the affiliated societies.

THE FARM STRIKE.

FARMERS ASSISTING EACH OTHER.

Our Dungarvan Correspondent states that there was no new development yesterday in connection with the farm labourers' strike. Merchants and traders drive their own drays and carts, and do all the work which the employés did formerly.

The exact number of arrests under the curfew on Sunday was 15, and not 14, as already stated. There was no arrest on Monday night.

The farmers of the district are being helped in their agricultural work by outside farmers.

FARMERS ELATED.

TOWN LABOURERS RESUME WORK.

A development which may have an important bearing on the future of the strike was reported yesterday at the offices of the Farmers' Union in Waterford. It is stated that all the employés of four commercial firms in Kilmacthomas had returned to work. The employés first struck work in sympathy with the farm labourers. Now they have resumed on the employers' conditions. In many quarters their action is regarded as the thin end of the wedge, as far as the break up of the strike is concerned. The farmers, who regard this development with elation, have reported from time to time a perceptible weakening in the labour ranks.

Reports of outrages continue to be received. Mr. Patrick Power, Islandtarsney, Tramore, reports that a rick containing four tons of straw, his property, was burned at 11.15 on Sunday night. Mr. Patrick Dunphy, Carrickbeg, says that his cocks of rye grass and hay were burned on Saturday night, and the remainder of the crop was scattered around the fields; and the gate was smashed and thrown on the road. Half an acre of mangolds belonging to Mr. Joseph Meade, Passage East, were torn up and destroyed on Sunday night.

FUNDS OF T.C.D.

AGREEMENT WITH THE GOVERNMENT.

STATEMENT IN DAIL.

In the Dail yesterday President Cosgrave announced the terms of the agreement which has been made by the Government with the Board of Trinity College, Dublin.

With the creation of the Free State the College lost the annual grant of £30,000 that it had been promised under the Government of Ireland Act, 1920. Now it will receive:—

(1) Certain monies that were placed in the hands of the Public Trustee by the British Treasury for the purpose of making good any loss that the College might suffer through the operation of the Land Act of 1903. The capitalised value of these monies is about £100,000.

(2) A sum of £5,000 from the University Vote.

(3) An annual grant of £3,000 from monies provided by the Oireachtas.

The College authorities have undertaken, in virtue of this settlement, that they will not ask the Government for any further assistance for a period of three years.

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT.

The President made his statement, when he proposed a financial resolution, one clause of which read:—

"To authorise the transfer into the joint names of the Minister for Finance and such officer of Trinity College, Dublin, as may be designated by the governing body of the College, for the use of the College of the funds held by the Public Trustee under Section 39 of the Irish Land Act, 1903, and the payment to the College out of moneys provided by the Oireachtas of an annual grant of three thousand pounds."

He said that when the Land Act of 1903 was being passed a special provision was necessary for the purpose of safeguarding the funds of Trinity College, Dublin, which it was thought might be affected by the Act, involving a loss of income. It was felt that an educational institution should not be allowed to suffer by reason of the adoption of a scheme of land purchase. The Act accordingly provided that a sum of £5,000 a year should be paid by the Government to the Public Trustee, out of which he could indemnify the College against any loss of income, and payments under this arrangement had been made since. The greater part of the money, however, was not required, and a considerable balance had accumulated in the hands of the Trustee.

The College for some time had been bringing to the notice of the Government its general need for further financial assistance, and the possibility of its existing resources being impaired under the present Land Bill. The College also pointed out that before the Treaty the British Government had promised to the College financial assistance from the State to the annual amount of £30,000. Afterwards the whole question was fully examined by the Government, and it was now possible, subject to the approval of the Dail, to obtain an agreement with Trinity College.

The College had formally undertaken that it would not approach the Government for financial assistance for at least three years, and there was no assurance on the part of the Government that after that time an application would be entertained. The Minister for Finance had agreed to give the College a sum of £5,000 out of the University vote. Last year £6,000 was allocated to Trinity College from this vote, and the previous year £12,000, he thought.

The resolution was passed.

DEMPSEY-GIBBONS FIGHT

TO TAKE PLACE TO-DAY.

GREAT FALLS, MONTANA, Tuesday.

The fight for the World's Heavy-Weight Championship between Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons, which has been off and on for several hours, has been definitely restored, and the fight will take place to-morrow, as originally arranged.

The announcement that the fight had been called off is incorrect.

Major J. E. Lane gives the following correct story of what happened. Major Lane, Mr. Ayres, a former judge, and Mr. Loy Molumby, all members of the committee which attempted to raise the final 100,000 dollars of the 300,000 dollars guaranteed to Dempsey, finally accepted Mr. Jack Kearns' last proposal that he agreed to go on with the fight if all the preliminary expenses at the Shelby arena were guaranteed.—(Reuter.)

THE TREVESSA.

MEDALS FOR CAPTAIN AND CHIEF OFFICER.

The Committee of Lloyds have decided to confer the Lloyds' Silver Medal for Saving Life at Sea upon Captain Cecil Foster, of the Trevessa, and the Chief Officer, James Charles Stewart Smith, in recognition of their outstanding feat of seamanship in bringing the vessel's two boats safely through their long ocean voyage.

The Committee of Lloyds have also subscribed £100 to a fund opened by "Lloyds List," as a tribute to the courage and discipline of the Trevessa's officers and crew.

DR. HALLINAN'S DEATH

REMOVAL OF THE REMAINS.

At Limerick yesterday evening the remains of the late Most Rev. Dr. Hallinan were removed from his episcopal residence to the Cathedral, where they will lie in state to-day. The interment will take place to-morrow (Thursday), after the Office and Requiem Mass which will be celebrated by Archbishop Harty. In the funeral cortège yesterday evening were a large number of clergy and leading citizens of different creeds, the military and the Civic Guards.

As the procession passed St. Mary's Cathedral there were muffled peals. About five thousand members of the Arch-Confraternity of the Holy Family marched, and the cortège was most impressive.

Monsignor O'Donnell, Vicar-General, received the remains at the Cathedral. Amongst the visitors at the episcopal house during Dr. Hallinan's illness was the Protestant Bishop, the Right Rev. Dr. White.

IRISH TOBACCO TRADE.

DEPUTATION TO PRESIDENT COSGRAVE.

A deputation representing the tobacco manufacturers of the Irish Free State was received yesterday by President Cosgrave.

The position of the trade under the altered fiscal conditions was discussed, and the views placed before the President were sympathetically received.

ROYAL AGRICULTURAL SHOW.

The Royal Agricultural Show opened at Newcastle yesterday in fine weather. There was a capital entry in all sections, cattle and pigs being especially numerous and good.

The King and the Prince of Wales were prominent exhibitors, and were consistently successful. His Majesty doing remarkably well with his sheep and the Prince of Wales with shorthorns.

A remarkable win was secured by Mr. Marshall, of Stranraer, whose shorthorn bull, "Bridgebank Paymaster," secured the Perpetual Challenge Cup, and also, for the third year in succession, the Male Shorthorn Championship.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE SAAR.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS TO HOLD INQUIRY.

GOVERNING BODY'S ACTS QUESTIONED.

FROM OUR DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENT.

GENEVA, Tuesday.

The long-expected Saar discussion took place at this morning's public session of the League of Nations Council, and resulted in an unopposed decision to hold forthwith an inquiry, conducted by the Council itself, into the administration of the Saar territory by the Governing Commission.

This conclusion, reached after an unexpectedly amicable debate, was due largely to the able handling of the British case by Lord Robert Cecil in arguing before a crowded Committee room the motion placed on the agenda by the British Government.

He made it clear that, in his view, the Saar administration down to the end of last year had been open to little serious reproach, and that it must rank high in the history of experiments in international government.

There were no circumstances, he said, justifying the issue of such a document as the March decree, and he claimed broadly that the Commission had neither carried out the Treaty requirements as to procedure, nor fulfilled its duty towards the Saar inhabitants.

WIMBLEDON FINALS.

ENGLISH GIRL MAY MEET MLLE LENGLEN.

MR. JOHNSTON'S CHANCE

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Tuesday.

Miss K. McKane has reached the final of the Women's Singles at Wimbledon, and, assuming that Mdlle. Lenglen beats Mrs. Beamish in the semi-final—and I think one is entitled to assume that—there will be an Anglo-French final, with all the lawn tennis world eager to be around the centre court to see the fun.

Miss McKane is thus given another chance to win a world's title for England, and she will give Mdlle. Lenglen a great game without, I think, being quite good enough to win. I do not believe the average follower of lawn tennis in this country knows quite how good Mdlle. Lenglen is. For myself, I can only say that I have seen her in danger of defeat just once, and that was when she won her world's title at the expense of Mrs. Lambert Chambers after one of the most thrilling games in the history of lawn tennis.

Miss McKane reached the final after a very exciting match with Miss Ryan, the game being the most closely contested seen on the centre court during the present Wimbledon. It was touch and go, and one may say that Miss McKane was a trifle lucky to win.

From the listless way in which Miss McKane played in the first set it appeared more than likely that she would be beaten, for there was neither resolution nor accuracy in her lawn tennis, and Miss Ryan ran home with the set at 6-1. There was consternation among the English girl's supporters, but they were soon smiling again, for Miss McKane played a very different game in the second set, and won at 6-2, thanks, in the main, to some well-judged deep driving.

It was a very expectant and interested crowd which surrounded the court when the final set began. Miss Ryan won the first game, but Miss McKane took the next two. She led at 40-15 in the fourth game, but played unlucky and allowed Miss Ryan to draw up at 2 all. A minute or so later Miss Ryan led at 3-2, and the outlook for Miss McKane was very critical, but she steadied herself finely and equalised. It was 5-all and then all, and suddenly felt that anything might happen. The luck was with Miss McKane in the last two games, and she won at 6-4.

In the last game of all Miss Ryan led at 15-love, and would have made it 30-love but for a line decision which went in favour of Miss McKane, and enabled her to draw up at 15-all.

Coming at such a moment, such a stroke of bad luck was, indeed, hard on Miss Ryan, who, as the game was played, did not deserve to be on the loser's side of the net at the finish. She played extremely well throughout, her cut stroke just over the net winning her many points.

I have said that one may assume that Mlle. Lenglen will beat Mrs. Beamish, but I would like to qualify that remark by adding that Mrs. Beamish has never played better in her life than she has done at this Wimbledon. Her unfaltering steadiness may give the French girl far more trouble than most people imagine likely. If only Mrs. Beamish could volley as well as she can drive, she would be a world-beater.

There may be an all-American final in the Men's Singles. W. M. Johnston should beat Norton without much trouble, and in the other semi-final F. T. Hunter will, I fancy, hit too hard for R. N. Lowe. To-day Hunter reached the semi-final on the result of a wonderfully fine victory over the Count de Gomar, the Spanish stylist being beaten after winning the first two sets at 6-3, 6-4.

Then Hunter cut loose to such good purpose that he won the next three sets with a class of Golfing Collins, who advanced three propositions—(1) That the owners of land would avoid their fair share of taxation; (2) that loss in revenue would fall upon the shoulders of the general taxpayers; and (3) that local authorities and individuals would be required to pay a higher price for land when the State developed its housing activities.

The speech of the evening was made by Mr. Pringle, the Liberal member for Penistone, who twitted Ministerialists with the havoc wrought in their political fortunes by their opposition to the 1909 Budget, as a result of which they lost two general elections and their last fortress in the Constitution. Asked by Colonel Pretyman Newman where the Liberal Party was now, Mr. Pringle retorted that that was a stupid question to put in relation to the transient vicissitudes of political life.

The hon. member for Penistone, who had armed himself with voluminous references, proceeded to show that many members of the present Government voted last year for the retention of the Land Valuation Department, and he was curious to know how they were going to vote that evening. He urged them at least to make some show of consistency, and a little appreciation of the great services rendered by Mr. Lloyd George. Were they going to cast their shoe over all his works. There might, at least, be a decent interval of mourning, or, at least, half-mourning. There was loud laughter at this, in which Mr. Lloyd George himself joined.

The Solicitor-General, speaking for the Government, desired to make it plain that the Land Valuation Department would continue to exist, and would carry out important duties, instead of burying their noses in stale and dusty records. They would obtain the same information every other valuer obtained.

Mr. Lloyd George's speech was rather disappointing. It lacked the fire and vigour of olden times, and was really an appeal to the Government to keep the land valuation register going for at least another year. He agreed that, from the point of view of revenue, the land tax might well disappear, but the records of the true value of property meant millions to the nation.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain, on this matter, found himself on the side of the ex-Prime Minister. He and his small band of followers meant to vote as they did last year, and he joined in the appeal to the Government to let the existing state of things remain for the present, at all events.

The Financial Secretary to the Treasury pointed out that members opposite had kept discreetly silent as to the real reason why they desired the retention of the clause. Behind it all was that when their time came they would find all the machinery for predatory duties in good working order. Mr. Asquith, indeed, has made that perfectly clear in his speech at Leeds.

The amendment was defeated by 260 votes against 167.

FRENCH REPLY.

AN HOUR'S INTERVIEW AT THE FOREIGN OFFICE

COMMUNICATED VERBALLY TO LORD CURZON.

The French reply to the British Questionnaire was conveyed to Lord Curzon by the French Ambassador last evening in an interview lasting over an hour.

The Press Association understands that the reply of the French Government took the form of a verbal communication, which will be considered at a meeting of the Cabinet to-day.

Prior to the meeting between Lord Curzon and the Comte de St. Aulaire, the Belgian Ambassador presented his Government's reply to the copy of the questionnaire sent to Belgium.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Tuesday.

I understand that M. Poincaré sent a 40-page answer yesterday to the famous British Questionnaire on Reparations.

Count St. Aulaire, the French Ambassador in London, had instructions to present the substance of the reply verbally to Lord Curzon, but to freely hand over the written answer if the latter demanded it.

BELGIAN THREAT.

TO USE MACHINE GUNS ON VILLAGES.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

COLOGNE, Tuesday.

It is reported from Duesseldorf that a French cavalry patrol was fired on near Salen, one horse being hit. The Belgian Commander of the area has informed the German authorities that, in the event of a similar incident occurring, a village near the scene of the attack will be subjected to machine-gun fire.

THE FALLING MARK.

GERMAN LEADER'S NEW REPARATIONS CAMPAIGN.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

BERLIN, Tuesday.

Undeterred by the extreme Junker threats of physical violence, Dr. Stresemann, the Chairman of the Reichstag Foreign Affairs Committee, and the leader of the important German People's Party (the political group which, incidentally, represents the interests of the big Industrialists), continues his campaign in favour of a Reparations settlement, based on really big payments on Germany's part.

Dr. Stresemann's chief concern at present, so I gathered during a long conversation with him to-day, is lest all prospects of a reasonable Reparations settlement should be lost in the economic and social chaos caused by the new mark slump.

He, therefore, attaches vital importance to the present effort of the German Government to save the German mark from complete shipwreck.

"If the latest support action of our currency, which the Cuno Cabinet has undertaken, fails, and the mark slump persists, it is obvious," he said, "that extremists from the Right or the Left, by combining together, will take advantage of the supervening chaos to try to impose Bolshevism or National Bolshevism, on the nation."

"This mark slump, which results in soaring prices, with which wages fail to keep pace, confronts the German Government with domestic dangers of a highly serious kind.

"The Government has, in fact, the utmost difficulty in warding off the attacks now being made on its authority, from the extremists of the Right and the Left."

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

LAND VALUATION.

LAST OF 1909 ACT.

FROM OUR PARLIAMENTARY CORRESPONDENT.

WESTMINSTER, Tuesday.

The resumed debate on the Finance Bill chiefly resolved itself into a fight over Clause 27, which repeals Section 4 of the Finance Act of 1910, thereby abolishing the Land Valuation Department. It was inserted in Committee.

The deletion of the clause was moved by Sir Godfrey Collins, who advanced three propositions—(1) That the owners of land would avoid their fair share of taxation; (2) that loss in revenue would fall upon the shoulders of the general taxpayers; and (3) that local authorities and individuals would be required to pay a higher price for land when the State developed its housing activities.

Hunter had a slashing forehand drive, and he made exceedingly good use of it, gradually wearing down his graceful rival by sheer grim tenacity of purpose and punch.

Hunter had a great ovation as he left the court, and he deserved it, for no pluckier rally has been seen at Wimbledon.

I do not mind admitting that I thought De Gomar was certain to win when he stood two sets up.

Mr. G. Lowe qualified for the semi-final with a fairly easy victory over D. M. Evans at 6-2, 8-6, 7-5. It was not an inspiring match, but both players were commendably steady.

IMPROVED TRAIN SERVICES

QUICKER JOURNEY TO ENGLISH MIDLANDS.

The time-table of the Great Western Railway, which comes into operation on Monday next, contains a number of improved services, the most noteworthy, as affecting Irish travellers, being the new express train from the Cambrian Coast to London, via Chester and Birmingham. This train, which is equipped with luncheon, tea, and dining car, gives a connection with the morning mail from Dun Laoghaire, and offers an attractive alternative route.

Leaving Chester at 2.40 p.m., the trains runs through to London in four hours, the only stop being Birmingham, which is reached at 4.30 p.m.—nearly an hour earlier than the arrival time by any route in the past. A similarly improved service is available in the reverse direction, and the through fares, ordinary operative between Dublin and Birmingham and London, apply by this route.

R.A. MEDICAL CORPS MEMORIAL.

This afternoon at 4.45 a memorial to the men of the Royal Army Medical Corps who fell in the European War will be unveiled in St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin. The memorial is in the form of a tablet, and is a replica of the tablet erected with a similar purpose in Westminster Abbey. It records that 743 officers and 6,130 warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men fell in the war. Friends and subscribers are invited to attend.

The Anthem will be: "Souls of the Righteous in the Hand of God," and will be followed by the Dedication, prayers. Dead March in "Saul," Last Post and Réveillé, "God Save the King," and Processional Hymn—"O God, our Help in Ages Past."

1,000 ARRESTS IN INDIA.

HOME RULE AGITATION EXTENDING.

NATIVES DUPED BY INSINCERE LEADERS.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

BOMBAY, Tuesday.

The situation at Nagpur is causing the Central Provinces Government much anxiety, the trouble which started two months ago now being very grave.

A large procession of Non-Co-operators, carrying Swaraj (Home Rule) flags was stopped by the police before reaching the European quarters, and several arrests were made. The police took action on the ground that the demonstration was calculated to annoy Europeans and provoke a breach of the peace, the agitators boasting that the "Swaraj" flag would soon fly over the Government House.

The flag agitation has spread throughout India, and the movement for civil disobedience is extending, in spite of the decision of the Nationalist Congress against it.

Up to date over a thousand arrests have been made. The prisoners are chiefly ignorant dupes of agitators and Non-Co-operation leaders, who often watch the arrests, but take care not to be arrested themselves.

CHEAPER TYRES.

CUT IN THE COST OF MANUFACTURE.

MICHELIN STATEMENT.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Tuesday.

The Michelin Tyre Company in its action in reducing the prices of all size tyres is engaging the attention of some of the British tyre manufacturers, and it is probable that reductions in the price of their goods will shortly be announced.

"The price of our tyres and tubes have been reduced by about 10 per cent.," a representative of the Michelin Tyre Company told a reporter to-day. "There is no truth in the statement that our prices have been reduced to cause a price war. The reason for the reduction is that we have cut the cost of manufacture, and are passing on the benefit to our customers. We are putting a motor cycle tyre on the market in two or three months' time."

TO-DAY'S LONDON PAPERS.

A GREAT AMBASSADOR.

MR. PAGE AND AMERICA.

Commenting editorially upon the unveiling of the memorial tablet to William Hines Page, a former American Ambassador, in Westminster Abbey yesterday by Viscount Grey, The Times remarks:—Without, for letters so happily given to the world, the ordinary Englishman and American would have to take much of Mr. Page's noble qualities on trust. But what might have remained a secret is now out, and the truth is such that it cannot give rise to the slightest misgiving on either side of the Atlantic. For all his friendship towards us, Mr. Page abated no jot of his great love for the land of his birth; if he loved England, he loved, and rightly loved, America more.

His first published letter written after he returned home to die, touched on the "greatest political task of the future." "A complete and lasting understanding" between the English-speaking worlds, was, he thought, "the only basis for the continued progress of civilisation." Those words were written more than four years ago, and there are many on this Independence Day, and will be many on others hereafter, who will maintain that they express nothing less than a fundamental verity.

THE LEAGUE AT WORK.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE SAAR.

The Times, in a leading article, observes:—The Council of the League of Nations, which began its session at Geneva on Monday, has already taken an important and, as we believe, a right decision on the most difficult of the questions with which it had to deal. It has agreed, after a brief discussion, to hold an inquiry into the administration of the Saar, and the members of the Saar Governing Commission are to go to Geneva to answer questions before the Council. The decision does credit to the Council, and the commonsense and good-will displayed by the French representative in particular merit warm appreciation. Lord Robert Cecil, the representative of the British Government, seems to have played his part with tact and skill, and M. Hanotaux, the representative of France, has admirably done the right thing in the right way.

The manner in which the decision was taken shows that there is really something distinctive in the League methods which can produce such a happy result in so short a time. The decision to hold an inquiry is not a move in any political game of chess. It is a manifestation of simple common-sense, and we hope that it will help to promote the good understanding and good feeling between France and this country which were never more imperiously needed than at the present hour.

BERENGARIA'S "DRY" VOYAGE.

AMERICAN PASSENGERS' SUPPLIES OF DRINK.

The Times Southampton Correspondent says that as a result of the experiences of prohibition as applied to shipping in New York, it is understood that the British companies have decided in future to place on board quantities of liquor sufficient only for the outward voyage. The White Star liner Majestic, sailing to-day, and the Berengaria, leaving Southampton next Saturday, will accordingly carry reduced quantities, but there is a feeling that the position of ships carrying supplies for the homeward voyage will be clarified in the course of the next few days.

The companies are laying particular stress on the fact that passengers have been able to obtain in America, and take on board at New York, considerable quantities of liquor for the voyage to England. There was no lack of drink on board the Berengaria, which arrived at Southampton yesterday morning. From 50 to 60 per cent. of the first class passengers brought their own supplies, and one traveller had four dozen bottles of whiskey in a trunk. These were rapidly dispersed among the other passengers.

TRAGEDY ON A LINER.

Details of a tragedy which occurred on the steamer, Baltic, on Thursday, when two days out from New York, were reported on the ship's arrival at Cork Harbour yesterday. Harry Dixon, aged 47, an American, and an Italian, both third class passengers, engaged in a heated controversy on the after promenade deck, following which, when Dixon's back was turned, the Italian took a revolver from his hip pocket and fired, killing the American. The Italian then turned his revolver on himself and fired. Before succumbing he admitted that he mistook Dixon for a detective, whom he believed was following him.

FREE STATE PARLIAMENT.

AMENDMENTS TO LAND BILL.

ARREARS OF RENT: MINISTER OFFERS A CONCESSION.

STATE OF INTERNMENT CAMPS.

It is evident that the Land Bill is to be fought clause by clause. Yesterday 30 amendments to it were discussed in the Dail and to-day no fewer than 98 will be considered.

The chief fight yesterday was about the actions which some landlords have launched for the recovery of arrears of rent. Mr. Gorey suggested that any sum, including costs, which has been levied or recovered in consequence of proceedings begun between May 28th and the date of the passing of the bill in excess of the "compounded arrears of rent" should be set off against the tenants' payments to the Land Commission, and that the Commission's payment to the landlord should be proportionately reduced.

Mr. Hogan said that a lot of humbug had been talked. In 75 per cent. of the counties no decrees had been executed, and in cases where they were executed the landlords were being pressed for money.

He offered to accept Mr. Gorey's suggestion if the date were changed to July 3rd. The Labour Party, however, insisted on the amendment going to a division, and it was defeated.

On the motion for the adjournment the question of the state of the prisons and internment camps was raised, and General Mulcahy read the report of the Red Cross Commission which visited these places recently. The delegates said that they were "favourably impressed" by what they had seen.

QUESTIONS.

DATE OF ELECTIONS.

Answering Alderman Byrne, the President said that a definite date had not been fixed for the Dail elections, but the municipal elections would be held on September 12th. The date of the elections depended on the printing of the Register.

Mr. Figgis—Is it intended to take the Dail elections before the local elections?

The President—It is not the general impression that the Dail elections will take place first.

WATERFORD DISPUTE.

Mr. Cathal O'Shannon, for Alderman O'Brien, asked the Minister for Defence if he were aware "that it was alleged that on Friday, June 15th, about 100 members of the I.T.G.W. Union, concerned in the County Waterford farm dispute, who were waiting to receive dispute pay on the roadside at Newtown, Co. Waterford, were ordered off the road by Drill Instructor McFadden, of Carroll's Cross, who was in charge of a party of military; that on the men adjourning to an adjacent school, Drill Instructor McFadden followed them, and after placing a guard on both doors of the school, addressed the men, using very offensive and threatening language, in the course of which he is alleged to have stated he was there to uphold the rule of the rifle, and that, if necessary, he would take out some of those present into the adjacent field, and put the red badge (the badge of the I.T.G.W.U.) through their hearts with a bullet; and whether the Minister will order that an inquiry be held into these allegations."

"I am not aware," said General Mulcahy, "of the allegations, and I have had no representations in the matter from any person, nor any statement of the alleged facts. I am having inquiries made with a view to ascertaining to what extent, if any, any soldier on the occasion in question exceeded his duty. The troops are acting with tact and impartiality in their very difficult duty in Waterford.

"In view of the serious nature, and the possible inflammatory tendency of such a suggestion as is contained in the question, I regret that the Deputy should make a question in that form take the place of representations made to me in some other way."

Mr. O'Shannon asked if the Minister would give the House the result of his inquiries.

General Mulcahy—I will. In the meantime, it would help very much in making an inquiry into those matters if we could have a plain statement of facts.

Mr. O'Shannon—Will you accept civilian evidence in this particular case?

General Mulcahy said that he was not going to approach civilians in the matter. Certain allegations had been made as regarded the actions of certain soldiers in a particular place. He was going to make inquiry from the Army officials concerned as to what actually took place. "If further action on my part is necessary," the Minister added, "it will be taken."

ALLOTMENTS.

Replying to Alderman A. Byrne, Mr. Ernest Blythe, Minister of Local Government, said that it was not proposed to introduce an Allotment Bill during the present session. Pending the passing of such a measure, steps had been taken to secure the interests of all existing plotholders. The provision of allotments would necessarily be dealt with in Acts of Parliament relating both to land and to the functions of local authorities. No administrative difficulty was likely to arise, the Minister added.

POST OFFICE CLOSED.

Asked by Alderman Staines whether, and when, he intended re-opening the sub-office at Finglas road, Dublin, the Postmaster-General said that he had gone into the matter personally and exhaustively, and he found that the sub-office had been discontinued, as the needs of the district were considered to be fully met by the existing offices in the locality. The business at that office had been comparatively small and unimportant, and he did not see any sufficient justification for re-opening it, especially in view of the general desire to avoid unnecessary expenditure.

ELECTORAL ABUSES.

BILL READ A SECOND TIME.

Mr. Ernest Blythe, Minister for Local Government, proposed the second reading of the Prevention of Electoral Abuses Bill, 1923. He said that the Bill would modify the existing law, and would make certain changes which experience had shown to be necessary. There were new penalties for personation, and new powers were given for the prevention of personation. Hitherto a policeman could only take a person in charge for personation if he was directed to do so by the presiding officer. It was now proposed to give a policeman the same power in connection with this offence as he had in dealing with any other breach of the law. It was proposed, also, to indemnify the police or presiding officer if they acted without malice.

It was provided that personation could be dealt with summarily, because on any jury that would be empanelled they would, perhaps find some person who had been guilty of that offence himself. They thought that when a case was proved there should be a conviction rather than that the punishment should be severe.

They had made provision in the bill for the carrying out of a referendum. It might be argued that there was no need for personating agents in the case of a referendum, but in view of recent practices they felt that some provision should be made that would allow machinery to be set up to detect and prevent personation.

Now, the presiding officer was a man from the locality, who was paid for the day, once in four years, and he was not likely to do anything that would incur odium if he could avoid it, and any amount of personation might go on and he would not do anything about it. The same applied to personating agents. The only way to remedy this state of affairs seemed to be that all political parties in the State should be brought into action in the matter, and they had drafted in this bill machinery which they thought would enable that to be done.

A FARCE ABOLISHED.

Certain other changes had been made. For instance, in the past it was illegal to hire cars for elections. That was a farce, because cars were continually used. That was done away with. The same applied to the question of payment of bands. They had withdrawn the limit of expenditure, because the limit that might be reasonable, say, in a three-member constituency, might be inadequate in a larger constituency.

There was not much that was new in the principles of the bill, and it seemed to him that it was a bill to which a good deal of attention might be devoted in the Committee stage, but that the general principles of the bill were not such that there could be a great deal of difference of opinion on.

Mr. Thomas Johnson (Labour) said that he approved of the second reading of the bill.

Mr. Darrell Figgis said that there were some omissions from the bill. He thought that it would be well if every voter produced some certificate to prove that he was the person on the register. Then there was the question of intimidation, which was not dealt with in the bill. Intimidation had markedly occurred in the last and in previous elections, and he thought that it should be defined in the bill that very

DEPORTEES' TRIAL

INTERNMENT CAMP LECTURES.

DEFENDANTS' CASE CLOSED.

Sean McGraith, the second of the seven Irish deportees who are charged with seditious conspiracy, gave evidence at the Old Bailey, London, yesterday, when the trial was resumed before Mr. Justice Rigby Swift. The other defendants are:—Art O'Brien, Sean O'Mahoney, Michael Galvin, Anthony Mularkey, Thomas George Flynn, and Denis Fleming.

McGraith, examined by Mr. Eustace Fulton, said that he was General Secretary of the Irish Self-Determination League. He agreed with O'Brien as to the purposes and activities of the organisation. In February, 1921, he was arrested and interned. He was released under a general amnesty in December of that year. Some of his fellow-prisoners were present members of the Free State Government, including Mr. McGrath, Minister of Labour, who was not a relative. While in the internment camp lectures were given on military and other matters, and his notebook, produced by the prosecution, contained notes of lectures relating to the making of explosives. He preserved the book, because it contained a number of rare Irish proverbs given to him by Irish speakers.

Mr. Fulton—What are your views about Irishmen fighting Irishmen? I hold strongly that it is deplorable that there should be civil war in Ireland, and I have stated my views on many occasions to this effect.

Replying to the judge, McGraith said that he did not regard Erskine Childers and himself as working in the same cause, because he had disagreed with military action all along. He could not bring any evidence that he had expressed disapproval of the action of Childers or Terence MacSwiney, but he stated in his speech that the fighting in Ireland was deplorable, and pointed out how he thought it should be stopped.

To a certain extent, said McGraith, he approved of the fighting against the British Forces; but, he disapproved of Irishmen fighting Irishmen. He believed that the Irish Republican Forces should have surrendered earlier than they did.

Counsel for the Crown asked about the views of Countess Markievicz, who had addressed meetings of the League. The witness said that he disapproved of her speaking, because she was too excitable and voluble, and spoke too much on Communist and Socialist lines.

The Attorney-General turned to the witness's note-book, and said these lectures on engineering mostly dealt with the blowing and setting fire to buildings and how to make bombs—a good deal of them? Yes. I do not remember much about them. I may say that I failed at the subsequent examination.

The Judge—Did those in charge of the camp know that lectures on making bombs were being given to the people interned? No; they did not come in very often. We were our own leaders.

So the period of internment was used as a period of instruction and education in the art of warfare? That is general knowledge.

ANOTHER DEFENDANT'S EVIDENCE.

Sean O'Mahoney was the next defendant called. He said that he had been in business in Dublin as a merchant for many years, and was elected in 1918 as Parliamentary representative for South Fermanagh in the British House of Commons. In 1921 he was elected for an Ulster constituency, but did not take his seat in either Parliament. At the end of last year he returned from the Continent, and decided to stay in London, as members of the Dail, who, like himself, had voted against the articles of agreement were being arrested by the Free Staters.

In cross-examination by the Attorney-General he said that his sympathies were not on the side of the political activities of the Republican movement. He had no association with the military side of the movement.

Counsel—What did you think the Republican Army was fighting for?

Witness—To maintain the Republican Party until an election had taken place. He had always advocated peace in Ireland, he added.

The Judge—Was the basis of the peace you foresaw the abolition of the Treaty and the Free State and the establishment of the Republic?

Witness—I look for a Republic of the whole country, and I mean by that one Government for the whole country.

A PRACTISING BARRISTER.

Dr. Bernard O'Connor, practising barrister for 33 years and a member of the Irish Self-Determination League, said that he had never heard O'Brien or O'Mahony advocate the use of arms. He described himself as a Pacifist, and said that five sons of his had fought for the Allies in the Great War. He admitted that he had in the courts while some of the evidence was being given.

The Attorney-General—As a practising barrister at the Old Bailey do you think it is an inflexible rule that a witness should not be in Court during the trial?

Witness—I was only called as an afterthought.

ADDRESSES OF COUNSEL.

Sir H. Curtis Bennett said that he would not call evidence for the defendant, and Mr. Hastings then addressed the jury for O'Brien, McGraith, and O'Mahoney. Counsel asked the jury if they believed that but for what happened in connection with the deportations any one of the defendants would have been prosecuted. The only purpose of the prosecution was to justify the actions of those who had locked them up.

Sir H. Curtis Bennett addressed the jury for the remaining defendants. While he was speaking an elderly man entered the Court and walked towards the jury box, apparently under the impression that it was the public part of the Court. He was stopped by an usher and directed elsewhere. The incident excited some little amusement, which was added to by Sir Henry remarking—I have sometimes heard of the thirteenth juryman, but I have never seen him before.

The trial was adjourned until to-day, when the Attorney-General will reply for the Crown and Mr. Justice Swift will sum up.

The case is expected to conclude to-morrow afternoon.

THE PRISONERS.

RESOLUTION AT MEETING AT THE MANSION HOUSE.

A resolution calling upon the Government to release all prisoners was passed at a meeting held last night at the Mansion House, Dublin, under the auspices of the Dublin Trades Council. It was stated that 95 per cent. of the prisoners were of the working class, and 75 per cent. of them had families dependent on them. The moment, it was declared, had arrived when the consequences of the recent struggle should cease; a gesture for peace had been made, and a like response should be made by the Government.

Mr. Mitchell pleaded for action; they had remained in a passive condition too long. Behind the Free State Government they had the veterans of England working in collaboration with the Northern Government. The men in power were striving to dominate the people, and were following remarkably closely the methods of the Government in Northern Ireland. The latter had passed a Flogging Bill and the Government of the twenty-six counties were now trying to do the same.

A few months ago they were selling firearms to "well-disposed" citizens for £3 10s., and now they were introducing a Public Safety Bill. (Laughter.) The bill was not required. Mr. de Valera had issued an order for the cessation of hostilities and it had been obeyed.

difficult problem. It might be said that it was too much to give to one section of the community, but the farmers and landowners might, on the other hand, say that the State's contribution to National Health Insurance was also too large. It was a very popular thing to attack the landlord interest.

Professor Magennis said that he was not a bit more enamoured of landlords as a class than Deputy Johnson was. He took things, however, as he found them. Why should not the State bear the 10 per cent.? One deputy had argued, as it appeared to him, that the 10 per cent. was a bonus, and that that bonus should come out of the taxpayers' pockets, or, in other words, that the citizens should be subject to a levy for the relief of the landlord. That was the deputy's argument. He invited him to put it in another way; a way that another deputy did not want him to put it—that was, that it was a levy on the citizens of Ireland for the relief of the unpurchased tenants. The proper way to look at it was that the 10 per cent. was an expenditure of public money to secure that there should be no more unpurchased tenants.

That brought him to the point—should the State provide that 10 per cent? He held that that was precisely one of the functions of the State.

FARMER'S QUESTION.

Mr. Gorey said that the 17,000 unpurchased tenants in the State were citizens of the State, and had borne their share of the bonuses in the past. Was it a great hardship that the 400,000 should now be asked to do what had been done for them by the 17,000 in the past?

The amendment was declared lost by 47 votes to 11.

THE LAND BILL.

COMMITTEE STAGE.

The Committee Stage of the Land Bill was then taken, and Mr. Gerald FitzGibbon, K.C., moved the insertion of a new section to Section 4, which, he said, would obviate the obligation of a landlord to pay penal interest on a mortgage charge on incumbrance out of the purchase money of the lands taken under the Act. During the last three or four years 5 per cent. was paid, and landlords were unable to pay interest on their incumbrances, and penal interest had accumulated against them because they were unable to obtain the means to discharge these liabilities through no fault of their own.

Mr. Hogan suggested an alteration in the wording of the amendment. Mr. FitzGibbon accepted the suggestion, and the amendment was passed.

Mr. Wilson moved an amendment to Section 3 to provide that if the option of redemption under Sub-Section 4 of Section 1 be exercised by the Minister for Finance any advantage gained by that transaction be used to reduce annuities to tenant-purchasers.

President Cosgrave opposed the amendment on the principle of which, he said, was at present in operation. The amendment might prevent the State from getting the relatively small sum it was entitled to, and it was not contemplated that purchasers under the Act should get advantages which did not obtain under previous Acts.

The amendment was rejected by 38 to 19.

Mr. Gorey moved to add to Section 11 the following words:—"Provided, however, that where property has been withheld from County Councils, in consequence of the non-payment of annuities, such arrears of grants shall be forthwith paid to the County Councils concerned before any of the sums so collected shall be paid into the Guarantee Fund."

The President said that if they were to accept the amendment any guarantee there was in the Guarantee Fund would go by the board. The Government was putting up a considerable sum of money for the solution of the land problem. They looked for a certain sum of money in respect of annuities, and where these were not paid they had to look to the Guarantee Fund to supply the deficit.

No contribution could come from that fund unless there was an actual deficit. If the dispute was about a delay in restoring annuities to the guarantee funds he would say that there was no unreasonable delay.

The amendment was withdrawn.

Sections 11 to 15, inclusive, were declared to stand part of the bill.

COLLECTION OF ARREARS.

Mr. Gorey next moved an amendment to Section 16 of the bill. The amendment set out that any sum, including costs and expenses, which had been paid or recovered in the Free State and the Northern Area recovered under or in consequence of any such proceeding begun, continued or enforced, between 28th May, 1923, and the date of the passing of the Act, in excess of the sum referred to as "compounded arrears of rent," should be deemed to have been overpaid by the tenant, and should be set off against the moneys to become payable by the tenant to the Land Commission in lieu of rent, and the subsequent payment of the Land Commission to the landlord should be proportionately reduced.

There was, said Mr. Gorey, nothing unreasonable in the amendment; it was only just and equitable.

Mr. Hogan said that landlords had not, as a class, executed decrees, and all the talk about the execution of decrees and putting farmers out of their homes had no relation to facts. In 75 per cent. of the counties not a single decree which had been obtained had been executed. There were at least thousands of cases where rent was due for the past two years, and the landlords had not enforced the decrees.

One would have thought from all they had heard about the execution of decrees that all the farmers in the country were to be put out of their homes, and that wholesale evictions were taking place. There was no use for all that loud talk and blustering, as there was no justification for it.

He could not agree to Mr. Gorey's amendment, but there were details upon which they might agree, and he would put forward an amendment upon which they might agree.

ABSURD CHARGE.

Mr. Gorey said that the Minister for Agriculture was clapping the landlords on the back, and inviting them to obtain and execute decrees before the bill became law. The Minister was now clapping on the back those individuals who, in the past, had been the curse of the country.

Mr. Doyle said that the Minister certainly was inviting landlords to do their utmost against the tenants, and wanted the landlords throughout Ireland to enforce decrees.

Mr. Hogan repudiated the statement.

Mr. O'Connell thought the amendment should be accepted.

Mr. Wilson said he read into the Minister's statement in the Dail that the costs incurred in Court proceedings by landlords were included, and on that statement an eminent solicitor gave it as his opinion that they were included in some cases those costs amounted to as much as the rent.

Mr. Johnson described the amendment as a very moderate one. The landlords knew the bill was coming, and those who went into Court were taking advantage of legislation. In all those cases the principle of the moratorium should have been adopted.

The Minister for Agriculture said he had seldom listened to so much humbug as had been spoken by those in favour of the amendment. He discussed the question of costs with the Farmers' Party, and he told Deputy Gorey more than once or twice that he would not include the costs. He objected to all this humbug and histrionics after he had made his position on the point clear.

Mr. Wilson—The Minister never said any such thing to me.

Mr. Hogan—I discussed it with Deputy Gorey, and made it clear.

Mr. Gorey—It is an absolute falsehood.

This was followed by calls for a withdrawal, and at the request of the Speaker Mr. Gorey withdrew the word, but said that the Minister's statement was not true.

Mr. Hogan said he would leave it to the House to judge as to the truth of his statement. The fact of the matter was that there was an extremely small proportion of the writs actually executed. He read out the whole list, as sent in by the sheriffs, to Deputy Gorey, and those returns were for writs executed, not since May 28th, but for this year. The proportion of executions was very small, and in some counties there was none at all. There had been no such policy as that they had heard so much humbug talked about. Further, it was a fact that in the few cases where writs were executed the mortgagees were pressing the landlords.

The time was gone for all such tub-thumping, and there was no occasion in legislating for the use of misstatements. He had to make a bargain, and the Government were carrying it out as the trustees of justice and fair play.

Mr. McGoldrick said he was satisfied that the Minister had gone as far to meet the situation as he could be expected to go. He had met the case in a very fair and sensible way. He believed that some of the landlords who took legal action lived in an area from which they could not expect much sympathy for the area covered by the bill.

TWO VIEWS.

Mr. Gorey said the Minister and himself had two distinct recollections of their interviews. The most the Minister said was that he did not think it fair to prevent a man from taking advantage of the law that was there. So confident was he (Mr. Gorey) of this that he expected the Minister to accept his amendment without a word. The Farmers' Party made no extravagant claim when they only asked for relief from the day on which the bill was introduced. It was astounding to see so many Deputies who appeared to know all about the impoverished landlords. Many of those Deputies were over in the bar when they should be listening to the speeches on a subject they were going to vote on.

Mr. Hughes warmly demanded the withdrawal of the remark made.

Mr. Gorey—Very well; I will withdraw the bar. (Laughter.)

Mr. Hughes said the Deputy should be ashamed of himself for making such a remark.

Mr. Gorey said that there was too much of that machine voting, and it was time for notice to be taken of it. His amendment went no further than to ask the Dail to penalise a section who had tried to evade legislation.

Mr. Hogan said that in order to meet Deputy Gorey's wishes he would make a slight modification and would change the date from 28th May to 3rd July, that day's date. His suggestion was that no judgment or decree obtained in any proceedings against a tenant to whom the Act applied after 3rd July should be effective, and any sum levied or recovered in consequence of such judgment or decree in excess of the compounded arrears of rent should be set off against the moneys to become payable by the tenant to the Land Commission in lieu of rent.

Mr. Gorey said that if the Minister would include costs he would not press his amendment.

Mr. Hogan finally consented to make the extension requested.

Mr. Gorey then asked leave to withdraw his amendment.

AN OBJECTION.

Mr. Johnson said that the House were not unanimous in granting leave to withdraw. He himself would move the amendment if Mr. Gorey withdrew it.

Mr. Milroy said that they should take the opinion of the House on the question.

The amendment was then put to a division, and defeated by 36 votes to 20.

PRISONS.

COMPLAINTS OF INSANITARY CONDITIONS.

On the motion for the adjournment, Mr. Everett drew attention to what he described as the insanitary conditions existing in Wicklow Jail at present. He said that there were 107 prisoners there, and only 17 had mattresses, the remainder having to sleep on straw on the floor. One of the prisoners was suffering from double pneumonia; 14 were ill in bed; 24 were ill, but not lying in bed, and 30 were generally unwell. He earnestly appealed for a medical inspection of the place, and for a remedy of the conditions.

Mr. Lyons drew attention to the condition of prisoners in Athlone, and said that the place should not be considered fit for habitation. He would like that sanitary officers and visiting justices be allowed to visit these prisons and examine them as to their conditions.

Alderman Corish said that in some barracks soldiers were living under intolerable conditions, which ought to be remedied.

General Mulcahy said that there was such a large number of prisoners that they were necessarily restricted in their accommodation. The Government had provided large sums of money in providing suitable and adequate accommodation, and if there were any particular places in which prisoners were housed in anything like unsuitable conditions it was principally due to the lack of accommodation produced by the destruction carried out by the prisoners themselves and other parties.

Wicklow Jail would not be used for prisoners only for that destruction. They were quite aware of the insanitary state of affairs that existed in Wicklow Jail, and it was not proposed to continue its use. At Newbridge damage done to the premises amounted to £8,000, and the damage done at Maryborough was estimated at £5,000. Other places also suffered considerably. The present conditions were not ideal, but just as the conditions in Wicklow were not ideal for prisoners neither were they ideal for troops.

The Government wanted to give as little inconvenience as possible in taking premises from the people generally. They were at the present moment cleaning out for handing back to the civil authorities certain jails. Waterford was cleared out, the greater portion of Mountjoy was evacuated also, and it was proposed shortly to clear out Limerick Jail.

RED CROSS REPORT.

As regards the general question of insanitary conditions in prisons, there was a large amount of propaganda about it, and in view of that fact, he felt it necessary to place before the House the Report of the International Committee of the Red Cross, which sent men to Ireland, and who were given permission to visit the prisons. He proposed to put the whole documents on the records of the House, but there were certain extracts which he would like to read.

The report stated that the delegates, MM. Schlemer and Haccius were given every facility for visiting the prisons and internment camps.

"The total number of prisoners and internees is about 11,500 men and 250 women. Our delegate visited the principal camps, comprising a total of 7,369 prisoners.

"The treatment of these prisoners is devoid of all hostile spirit, and the general principles adopted by the 10th International Conference of the Red Cross are observed. The Government refuses the status of 'prisoners-of-war' to the prisoners, but in reality treats them as such. The delegate particularly draws the attention of the Committee to the fact that nowhere did he find a wounded or sick prisoner left without medical treatment. On the contrary, he found everywhere a carefully organised medical service. The serious accusations made on this subject appear to him unfounded.

"The delegate was not able to visit the prison at Kilmainham, where 250 women are detained; but has no reason to believe that the treatment there is different to that adopted at Mountjoy. Thirteen of those prisoners had been on hunger-strike since the day of their arrest to obtain their release or immediate trial, and not as a protest against the prison régime. This fact is, moreover, verified by their written statements. The delegate does not consider it his duty to insist on getting into touch with these prisoners, fearing that his intervention, misinterpreted, would only encourage them to persist in their attitude, and give rise to a new case of strike. During his sojourn three of these prisoners were released.

MOUNTJOY CONGESTED.

"The buildings of the old 'North Dublin Union' are in the course of alteration for the reception of those detained in Kilmainham. These buildings, with the surrounding garden, will fulfil all desirable hygienic conditions.

"The instructions given by the International Committee of the Red Cross to its delegate exclude certain representations and sworn inquiries bearing on individual complaints.

"It is a fact that searches have taken place in various private hospitals, but the working of these hospitals has not been interfered with. There are grounds for the complaints of overcrowding in Mountjoy Prison.

"The complaints regarding the prohibition of correspondence with prisoners' families, sanitary conditions, and the food in the camps are unfounded."

General Mulcahy also quoted the reference in the report to Turtown Internment Camp, where a delegate found 72 men in the infirmary and 25 in the surgical hospital. The buildings were in good condition and well heated. The staff consisted of three doctors and anybody who wished could see a doctor. There was no epidemic, but a certain number of men lately arrived suffered from scurvy and had been isolated. The wounded men were nursed in a pavilion outside the camp, and "the patients seem to be very grateful to the doctors for their devoted care and attention.

"The prisoners themselves organise the interior service of the camp, kitchen, fatigue duty, etc.; and are responsible for material which is not replaced in case of wilful destruction. I have not had any complaints to register concerning the food, medical care, or treatment, not having been authorised to question the prisoners. The men are not obliged to do any compulsory work, and are at liberty to walk about the enclosure of the camp. I was present at a football match.

GOOD IMPRESSION.

"My visit of inspection to the camp made a favourable impression on me. The conditions correspond with the normal treatment of prisoners of war, in conformity with the principles which inspired the Convention of Geneva."

The portion of the report dealing with Newbridge was also read.

The House adjourned till to-day.

TO-DAY'S BUSINESS.

Both Houses will sit to-day. In the Dail the Committee stage of the Land Bill will be taken.

The Senate will consider a message from the Dail, stating the latter body's disagreement with the amendment made by the Senate to the Censorship of Films Bill, and mentioning that they have made an amendment in lieu thereof, to which the concurrence of the Senate is desired.

FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE.

SECOND OUTBREAK IN ENGLAND.

The Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction are officially informed that a further outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease has been confirmed in England. This second recent outbreak has occurred at Stevington, Bedfordshire, the first having occurred in Yorkshire, near Hull. The authorities, so far as the Department is aware, have not any clue as to the possible origin of the disease, but there appears to be no suggestion that the second case is merely an extension of the first.

In the circumstances, any question of the relaxation of the special precautions taken by the Department to prevent the spread of the malady to this country must be postponed for the present.

It is now two years since Ireland has suffered a visitation, and as each appearance of the disease has been preceded by one or more outbreaks across Channel it is imperative that precautions should be taken, more especially as within the past few days an outbreak has been confirmed in Jersey.

The official precautions—viz., the prohibition of the importation of animals and of hay and straw, and the disinfection of returning drovers, etc.—may, however, be strengthened if persons engaged in the cattle trade will take care to avoid the infected localities, and if hay and straw imported as packing material be burnt.

CHURCH NOTES.

Ever since the days of Handel, music in the Foundling Hospital Chapel, London, has always been cultivated with great care, and was again a principal feature at the annual Thanksgiving Service. The excellence of the singing proved that that tradition is still preserved. Several hymn-tunes composed by children chanted the Psalms with unusual precision and clearness, and their clear childish voices lent a new charm to such a cherished hymn as "O God, our help in ages past." Dr. H. Davan played the organ—not, indeed, Handel's, but an instrument not unworthy of its predecessor.

The second part of Liverpool Cathedral will, it is expected, be consecrated on July 19, 1924. The Ecclesiastical Commissioners, in anticipation of these events, have agreed to provide the stipends—£750 a year each—of two provisional canons. To these canonries the Bishop of Liverpool has nominated the Ven. Archdeacon Hewson, Rector of Wootton, and the Rev. Canon Major, Principal of the Training College, Warrington.

The survival of ecclesiastical powers was recently witnessed in Guernsey when the Dean of the island, sitting with the island rectors as Commissary, constituted a court to hear an application for a declaration of annulment of marriage. Miss Ellen Langlois sought a declaration of nullity on the ground that Charles William Wright, a battery quartermaster-sergeant in the Royal Garrison Artillery, with whom she went through a form of marriage, had married in Malta in 1915 a woman who was still alive at the time of the second ceremony. The court, after hearing witnesses, declared the marriage null and void.

The Ven. Archdeacon John Holden has been appointed Bishop of Kwangsi-Hunan by the Archbishop of Canterbury, in succession to Bishop Bannister. The new bishop proceeded to China as a missionary in 1907 for C.M.S., and a member of the Church Missionary Society's Mission. He has worked since then at all the central stations of the mission in Kwangsi and Hunan, and he has acted as a successful evangelist among the non-Christian people. He is also a religious-minded Christian leader during the prevailing unrest. He was appointed Examining Chaplain to Bishop Bannister in 1914, and Archdeacon of Kwangsi in 1919. During Bishop Bannister's absence he has been in charge of the mission and commissary for the diocese.

It is rare nowadays that large sums of money for ecclesiastical purposes can be raised without resorting to an appeal to the public, but the Dean of Westminster, at a meeting of the Windsor and Eton Choral Society, announced that he had been able to raise £40,000 towards the repair fund for St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle, without a penny being spent on the collection of the money, and without making a public appeal. He said that he had no doubt it would be possible to retain all the money required to restore this historic and artistic building, so that it would remain one of England's gems for centuries to come.

A group of Evangelicals (including the Bishops of Liverpool and Bradford, the Marquess of Hartington, the Dean of Canterbury, Sir W. Joynson-Hicks, M.P.; Sir Robert Williams, the Ven. W. Stanton Jones, Vicar of Bradford, and Sir Thomas Inskip, K.C., M.P., the Solicitor-General) has addressed a letter to the members of the National Assembly of the Church of England, inviting them to the Prayer Book Revision and the position of great gravity which has been reached. They conclude by saying: "We earnestly beg you to join with those who, while desiring the enrichment and adaptation to modern needs of our Book of Common Prayer, are not prepared to alter in any material respect the position of the National Church in relation to the administration of the Lord's Supper. On other matters that are not essential there is room within the Church both for differences of opinion and for compromise, but in this connection we respectfully ask for your firm support."

MOORE STREET ROBBERY.

FOUR DUBLIN MEN IN CUSTODY.

In the Southern Police Court, Dublin, yesterday, Patrick McAnaspie, 18 Middle Gardiner street; William Fitzgerald, 15 Hill street; James Maxwell, 15 Grenville street; and John Lynch, 8 Temple lane, were charged with having conspired to rob the premises of Messrs. M. and P. O'Hanlon, fish merchants, 21 Moore street, and by force of arms stolen £37, and a gold watch and a bracelet, the property of Mary O'Hagan, servant. They were also charged with the attempted murder of Mary O'Hagan. McAnaspie and Fitzgerald were also charged with illegal possession of jewellery, and Maxwell with being in possession of a .45 revolver and three rounds of ammunition without authority.

Mr. J. O'Brien (instructed by Mr. O'Flaherty) prosecuted. Mr. James Brady appeared for Lynch, Mr. P. O'Reilly, solicitor, for Maxwell, and Mr. Cummins, solicitor, for McAnaspie. Mr. Peter Seales appeared for Messrs. O'Hanlon.

Detective Officer Lynch, D.M.P., gave evidence of statements made by some of the defendants, and they were remanded until Friday.

ROSES IN FLOWER.

Of garden flowers the rose deservedly occupies the premier place in our affections. This year greenly has been a serious trouble, cold weather has retarded the flowering season, and the National Rose Society's Show in London last week was too early for most exhibitors. But in the kinder climate at home a few days makes a great difference, and at Messrs. Watson's Nurseries good cultivation has resulted in success, for this year's field of 50,000 roses at Killiney Nurseries is now a blaze of flower. The varieties include all the newest sorts yet raised, and there seems to be no limit to the progress made in the production of wonderful new colours. Popular sorts such as Golden Emblem and Queen Alexandra may be seen by the thousand of one variety. Many rose lovers find their way to Killiney Nurseries annually at this season, and those who have not yet availed themselves of the opportunity will enjoy an afternoon amongst the flowers.

Motorists, drive through Killiney Golf Links, Rochestown avenue, and will find the Nursery entrances opposite Killiney Golf Links. Killiney Station is 1½ miles from the Nurseries.

CHURCH AND STATE.

THE RECOGNITION OF THE MINORITY.

DR. MILLAR'S CRITICISM

In the course of his address at the Diocesan Synod, at Waterford yesterday, the Right Rev. Dr. Millar, Bishop of Cashel and Emly, having expressed regret at the recent death of Sir Herbert Goff, said:—

We have had many losses through removals from the diocese, but yet those of our people who remain have shown their love for the Church in a remarkable degree. We have received financial support to an extent not our Sustentation Fund is not in any immediate danger. Another most encouraging indication is the support which is given to foreign missions. Notwithstanding the troubles with wonderful readiness, and their contributions, unusually large in proportion to their members, are an undoubted and most helpful indication of their zeal for the extension of the Christian faith.

Regarding the future of our Church in this country, we are thankful to see that there is a return to peaceful methods. We are looking forward now to constructive work, to the building up of the resources of the country, which, especially during the past year, have been shamefully and wickedly destroyed. The acute differences in the South of Ireland resulted in a campaign against the constituted authorities, resulting in terrible outrages upon the properties of supporters of the Free State and the properties of supporters of the Free State Government. It is impossible to understand the mental outlook of men who deliberately order the destruction of some of Ireland's most beautiful homes, and who, at the same time, claim to love their country. We profess sympathies with those who have been the victims of these senseless and wicked acts. In considering our position in this country we are taking for granted that we are to receive just treatment from the Government to which we are giving our loyal support. We have received many assurances from the Ministers of the Government that there will be no distinction made between one man and another, but that every class and creed will be controlled by the same laws, administered with absolute impartiality. We, therefore, concluded that in the administrative department of the Government men would be chosen solely for their superior fitness for particular duties.

EDUCATIONAL APPOINTMENTS.

These assurances were welcomed and valued by us, but yet we fear that those who have been entrusted with the carrying out of the Government's wishes are ignoring, to some extent, the spirit of the Government's intentions. In the control of education this has not been given any representation whatsoever. The executive powers of the National Education Commissioners were taken away nearly two years ago. Since then many vacancies have occurred. Inspectors, heads of departments, have been appointed, and no case of their clear childish voices lent a new charm to such a cherished hymn as "O God, our help in ages past." Dr. H. Davan played the organ—not, indeed, Handel's, but an instrument not unworthy of its predecessor.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

BUSINESS AND POLITICS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—In your leader in to-day's Irish Times you raise the important issue of the organisation of the candidature of a business group for the next Parliament, and ascribe three reasons for the apparent apathy of the professional, commercial, and industrial classes in this respect. They are (1) dislike of "politics" in the sense of "party government," whereas it should really stand for the science of government; (2) a needless fear that they might seem in opposition to the present Government; (3) political agoraphobia. Admitting that these several reasons have their weight in accounting for the distressing sociological phenomena under consideration, I venture to suggest a fourth and, perhaps, more fundamental reason why the business and industrial elements tend to seek no representation in our public life.

I suggest that we leave, for the moment, generalities, and ask ourselves why A, B, C, D, etc., known to us by name to control important industrial and commercial concerns, may be reluctant to put themselves forward as candidates for the Dail, the Corporation, and the Dublin Union. May it not be the possibility that their businesses would suffer if they were to absorb themselves in Parliamentary and local government work? It must be remembered that the attendance of Labour members in the Dail and Corporation is rendered possible by the fact that such attendance may be considered, for the most part, in the day's business, and can be linked up with their secretarial work, etc. The legal profession has always been closely connected with Parliamentary life in most countries, and in some way or other can combine the two activities.

Again, the life of Parliament and Corporation, like every human activity, demands special aptitudes for success, and not every capable and successful business man has, necessarily, such aptitudes. It seems to me that the type of big business man whose candidature for the Dail and Corporation is a practical proposition is one who is in a position to shoulder his business responsibilities on to capable subordinates, and such men are generally well on in life.

Yet it is highly important that the business element of the community, with its keen appreciation for the practical aspects of the administrative and other problems of life, should be introduced into the Dail to counterbalance theoretical and idealistic conceptions of the executive, which, although right in the abstract, may be wrong in their application at a particular moment or in a particular way. The Dublin Citizens' Association has always been, and is, keen on the representation in public life and affairs being given to industry and commerce. This letter is written, while objecting to further, its object to introduce, by endeavouring to point out an important practical aspect of the case.—Yours, etc.,

HOWARD H. HELY, Secretary.

THE LAND BILL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Clause 16 of the Land Bill proposes to give all tenants who have evaded payment of their rents for the past three years a reduction of 25 per cent. The conscientious tenant who has drawn upon his little reserve to render unto Cæsar things that are Cæsar's gets none. Why should the Free State Government place a premium on dishonesty? All judicial tenants ought to be treated alike and should receive the same reduction, whether rent has been paid or not. Those three years have been most unfavourable, and where much hired labour was used no rent has been made.

As, however, the landlord received no increased rent during the few fat years of the war I see no reason why he should be asked to make a reduction. I think that those three years' rent ought to be added to the purchase money, and that the tenant should be given a clean start, with no excuse for being unpunctual in future. The tenants who have paid should receive credit for their payments.

Yours, etc.,

"AGRICOLA."

NORTH AND SOUTH.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—With reference to the discussion last week in the Presbyterian General Assembly on the state of the country, I wish to endorse the remarks of the Rev. Dr. Denham Osborne, Dublin, that there is no religious intolerance against Presbyterians, or any Protestant denomination, in the South so far as I have seen. I have been travelling in a commercial way over most of the South for more than thirty years. I am a Presbyterian, and I always found my customers—90½ per cent. of whom are of different religious views—most liberal in their support; and they have shown me every consideration and kindness, even in the troubled times of the past three years.

Knowing both sides of the boundary line as I do, I believe that what is wanted is more friendly fusion and knocking against one another and exchanging views so as to remove the sharp angles, as there are sharp angles on both sides. In other words, better knowledge of one another would be a good thing for all in our beloved country.—Yours, etc.,

MOSES CUNNINGHAM.

BROADCASTING IN THE FREE STATE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Like others who think with the Secretary of the Dublin Wireless Club, I have been watching with much surprise the great delay in giving people on this side of the Irish Sea the opportunities for enjoying the various programmes of the British Broadcasting Company, now being performed in England. I am perfectly convinced that there is a very great possibility in the development of this particular branch of trade. Rumour has it that the supply of the necessary components for the manufacture of receiving sets is to be provided in Ireland, and that is all to the good; but, in the meantime, why should we not create the demand for these goods by allowing Irishmen and women to hear for themselves what can be done?

There are many amateurs on the other side who constantly transmit music, speech, and song from low-power stations of their own, which can be easily pic

SENIOR CUP SEMI-FINALS.

PORTMARNOCK AND ROYAL DUBLIN WIN.

DR. M'CORMACK BEATEN.

The Irish "close" champion, Dr. J. D. McCormack, who led the Hermitage team against Portmarnock in the semi-final round of the Senior Cup at Dollymount last evening, was opposed to J. F. Jameson, who sprung a surprise by defeating the champion 2 and 1. It was a particularly good match all the way round, the golf reaching a high standard, and a feature was the remarkable putting. On the way out Dr. McCormack was saving himself by holing long putts, but the luck in that respect changed nearing the end, the Portmarnock man getting down in a long single putt on each of the 14th, 15th, 16th, and 17th greens.

Jameson was one up at the turn, and it was not until the 12th that his opponent took the lead for the first time, an advantage he retained until going to the 14th. Here Jameson, fifteen feet from the pin in 3, got down for a 4 to square. He was well outside the champion from the 15th tee, but his second was over the green. He played a nice pitch and run, again holed his putt for 4, and McCormack, on in two, was short with his approach putt and lost the hole and the lead. McCormack was on the 16th green from the tee, with his opponent in the hollow on the right, and when Jameson overran the pin with his second by eight yards he seemed out of it, but McCormack's ball was in a hole and he did not get up, and Jameson running down the eight-yarder and McCormack missing his second putt, the Portmarnock man stood formy 2. Bunkered off his drive to the 17th, Jameson pitched his third well on, but with McCormack on the edge of the hole in 3 and his rival more than half stymied, it looked as if the match was going to the home green. Again Jameson rammed down that long one, his ball curling in to the left of the other ball for the half and the match. Only three holes were halved in this very fine game.

C. J. Lee did very well to beat H. M. Cairnes 3 and 2, but F. E. Davies put Portmarnock one up when he beat J. Conan on the home green. He was out in 36 for a lead of one hole, and was back in 38, having 3's at the 3rd, 4th, and 9th. It was an excellent match, the putting being particularly good, but when Conan sunk long ones, as he did on five greens, Davies was always equal to doing the same thing. B. J. Ward (Dun Laoghaire) had a capital match with H. S. Watson (Royal Dublin). At no time were there two holes between them until the Dun Laoghaire man won on the 17th by two.

T. Johnson played fine golf against W. G. M'Connell (Dun Laoghaire). Out in an approximate 32, he was 6 up at the turn. His pitching and putting was a feature of his fine display, and he had 2's at each of the short holes. The final between Portmarnock and Royal Dublin will be played this evening at 4.30. Results:—

PROFESSIONALS' OPEN WEEK.

As a preliminary to their open week, which commences to-day, Killiney Club yesterday held an 18-holes stroke competition for professionals. It was the first occasion on which such an interesting event was held over the course, so it was not surprising to see such a large turn-out of members and visitors. Fred. Smyth, of Royal Dublin, returned the fine score of 72, to take first place. Few keener competitions of the kind have been witnessed, as only six strokes separated the first dozen players.

J. Gaffney (Lucan) and J. Quinn (Clontarf) tied for second prize with 75 each, and J. Sullivan and W. Holley shared third prize with 74. T. Gaffney, the local professional, also returned 74, but took the prize presented by Mr. Beamish Moore for the best 9 holes, his score being 35.

Smyth's card read:—

SCHOOLS' INTERPROVINCIAL.

LEINSTER v. ULSTER.

The most exciting match played this year in Dublin was decided yesterday at Rathmines, when the Ulster schoolboys defeated the Leinster schoolboys by one run. Leinster played as selected, but Ulster brought in Dick and Matthews instead of Delap and Watson. Leinster had the good luck to win the toss, but started moderately, losing Hipwell and Hirst with 31 only scored. Seymour and Moran made a stand for the third wicket, but the venture only realised 117, the wickets falling very fast after lunch. M'Elney proved the best of the Ulster bowlers, with 4 wickets for 28. Ulster made a lucky start, Ballie being missed behind the wicket first ball, while next over he was let off at mid-off. M'Donald, with the score at 10, fell to a smart catch by M'Veagh at point, but then Ballie and Stone hit well, and put on 49 for the second wicket, when Stone was clean bowled by Seymour for 36, in which he hit 7 fours, and gave an easy chance in the outfield. Soon after Ballie was well taken in the slips by Hirst for 22. With 60 on the board and only four out it looked any odds on the North men, but at the tea interval a wicket were down for 114, Seymour bowled Dick immediately after resuming, but M'Elney hit his first ball for 4 and won the match, and was bowled next ball. The Leinster men threw several runs away in the field, while their fielding was a long way behind the North boys. Seymour followed up his good batting by taking 5 wickets for 28, and Davidson had 3 for 29. Score:—

THE SALE OF HAY.

The hearing was resumed at the Law Courts, Dublin Castle, yesterday, before Mr. Justice Pim and a city common jury, of an action in which James Newman, farmer, of Oughterard, Navan, Co. Meath, sued Messrs. John Wallis and Sons, carriers, Dublin, to recover £329, the price of hay sold and delivered by the plaintiff to the defendants between July and August, 1922.

The defendants in their defence stated that the prices were exorbitant and unreasonable, and as an alternative defence stated that between June 17, 1919, and August 8th, 1922, the plaintiff purported to deliver 445 tons of hay, for which he charged £5,923, whereas the plaintiff did not deliver the hay, but delivered a lesser quantity, for which the defendants stated that the plaintiff was overpaid £626 18s. The defendants claimed to set off the sum claimed by the plaintiff, and counterclaimed £296 16s.

Mr. P. Lynch, K.C., and Mr. M. J. Ryan (instructed by Mr. Thomas Noonan) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Serjeant Hanna, Mr. Lardner, K.C., and Mr. Joseph O'Connor (instructed by Messrs. Gerald Byrne and Co.) appeared for the defendants.

Mr. John Wallis, the defendant, was examined by Mr. Lardner, K.C., and the case was adjourned until to-day.

LOST HUMOUR.

IRISH M.P.'s MISSED IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Viscount Wolmer, M.P., Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade, opening the thirty-ninth annual conference of the United Kingdom Pilots' Association, at Anderton's Hotel, London, yesterday, made reference to his past Parliamentary friendship with the President of the Association, Mr. Michael Joyce, who is an Irishman. However much they might have differed, he said, they never ceased to be friends.

"We now miss our Irish friends very much in the House of Commons," Lord Wolmer proceeded; "some people thought that our proceedings would be a little quieter when they departed from us, but that is far from being the case. We have got as much noise as we had before, but we have not nearly so much humour. (Hear, hear.)

"I can assure you, gentlemen, that we should all be very glad if some of our Irish friends would come back to us in the House of Commons." (Applause.)

LAW REPORTS.

LOUTH FARMER KILLED

WIDOW'S ACTION FOR DAMAGES.

Before the Lord Chief Justice and a city special jury yesterday, the case of McGeough v. Lockington and Co., Ltd. (Lord Campbell's Act), came on for hearing.

The action was brought by Mrs. Janie McGeough, widow and administratrix of her late husband, of Haggardstown, near Dundalk, on behalf of herself and her eight children, to recover damages, laid at £12,000, for the loss sustained by the death of the late Mr. McGeough, who died as the result of an accident which occurred on the public road near his own place on the 20th of November last, and which was alleged to have been caused by the negligence of the driver of a motor lorry, with trailer attached, belonging to the defendants, a well-known Dundalk firm.

The defendants denied the alleged negligence in the defence, and alleged that the accident was caused by the negligence of the deceased.

Serjeant Hanna, Mr. Lardner, K.C., and Mr. Vincent Rice (instructed by Messrs. O'Hare and O'Hagan) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. James MacLoone, K.C.; Mr. T. Sullivan, K.C., and Mr. John Bartley (instructed by Messrs. Ward and Hammil) for the defendants.

Opening the case for the plaintiff, Serjeant Hanna said that the late Mr. McGeough was not only an extensive farmer, but he was also the proprietor of a public-house, an extensive cattle dealer, he occupied a prominent position in the district, and was a well-known and go-ahead business man. Describing the circumstances under which the accident occurred, he said that the deceased was proceeding home from Dundalk, riding his daughter's bicycle, and was going slowly, but had no light on the machine, when he was knocked down by the carrier motor lorry, which had a light. His right arm and left knee were fractured, and he had also sustained other injuries, and he ultimately died as the result of the accident, mainly from the shock. No one had seen the accident actually happen except the driver of the lorry, and, perhaps, he might say that he did not see it or know anything about it. As his lordship would tell the jury, however, if the driver of the motor lorry could have avoided the accident by the exercise of reasonable care the defendants would still be liable.

Evidence was then given as to Mr. McGeough having been found lying unconscious on the road, with his bicycle some distance away. A lorry had passed along some time previously. One witness said that by the light of a lamp she saw the defendants' name on the lorry. Another witness said that when he saw the lorry it was not on its right side.

The evidence for the plaintiff had not concluded when the Court adjourned till this morning.

A BLACKROCK COLLISION.

In the Chancery Division, before Mr. Justice Powell, in the case of Kennedy v. Kennedy,

Mr. St. L. Devitt (instructed by Mr. E. Lloyd), on behalf of Mrs. Kennedy, of Frascati, Blackrock, Co. Dublin, whose husband's estate is being administered in the Court, applied for liberty to take such proceedings as she may be advised, under circumstances which counsel mentioned. On the 20th April a motor lorry belonging to the Merchants' Warehousing Company ran into a wall surrounding the gate lodge of Mrs. Kennedy's residence at Blackrock, broke an aperture six feet wide, and did great damage to the lodge.

The Merchants' Warehousing Company, when written to, admitted that their lorry had done the damage, but stated that a lorry, in which were members of the Civic Guard, dashed negligently into their lorry and injured the steering apparatus to such an extent that the lorry became unmanageable, and ran into the wall; and they contended that the Civic Guard, and not they, were responsible for the damage. The Civic Guard, on being written to by Mrs. Kennedy's solicitor, referred him to the State Solicitor.

Mr. Justice Powell made an order giving Mrs. Kennedy liberty to take such proceedings as she might be advised.

LABOURER'S CLAIM AGAINST FARMER.

At the Law Courts, Dublin Castle, before Mr. Justice Pim, sitting without a jury, in the case of Donnelly v. Boyd, an action was heard in which Henry Donnelly, a farm labourer, residing at Acres, Co. Monaghan, sued Hugh Boyd, farmer, of Carbracken, Castleblayney, to recover £52 2s. on foot of a promissory note, bearing date 2nd June, 1923, of which payment was demanded on the 6th June, and defendant neglected to pay. The plaintiff alleged that the consideration for the promissory note was a balance due for work and labour done, services rendered, and cash lent and money paid for the defendant's use between November, 1921, and May, 1923.

The defendant, in his defence, stated that he had fifty acres of land, and that the plaintiff had worked for him for £1 8s. per week, with ground for potatoes, and that the plaintiff was indebted to him for work which he did not perform, and for other services, and that plaintiff was living in a house, defendant's property, since he had ceased to work for him.

Having heard the evidence,

Mr. Justice Pim gave a decree for £31 and costs, the plaintiff agreeing to give up his occupation of the house on defendant's land when the amount was paid.

Mr. Cecil Lavery (instructed by Mr. Henry Murphy) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Morgan Byrne (instructed by Mr. John Gillespie) appeared for the defendant.

ACTIONS AGAINST MR. LARKIN.

In the King's Bench Division, before Mr. Justice Powell, three actions, in which Mr. James Larkin is defendant, were listed for the second time for the hearing of applications on behalf of the defendant for orders remitting the action for trial before the Recorder.

The plaintiffs in the three actions are Alderman William O'Brien, T.D., of 77 Botanic road, Dublin; Mr. Thomas Foran, 8 Queen's square, Dublin, trade union official; and Mr. Thomas Kennedy, of 20 Charlemont Mall, Dublin, trade union official.

Each of the plaintiffs claims damages for slander and an injunction restraining the defendant from making and publishing false and malicious statements concerning him.

Mr. Wood, K.C., who, with Mr. Conner, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. William Smyth and Son), appeared for the defendant, asked for an adjournment of the applications until the following day.

Mr. Justice Powell—You would not like to adjourn them any longer?

Mr. Wood—No, my lord. (Laughter.)

Mr. Serjeant Hanna and Mr. Geoghegan (instructed by Messrs. James O'Connor and Co.) were for the plaintiffs.

RENT AND INCOME TAX.

In the Chancery Division, before Mr. Justice Powell, in the case of Kennedy v. Kennedy,

Mr. Robinson (instructed by Messrs. Collis and Ward) applied for leave to bring an action of ejectment against Mrs. Kennedy to recover possession of the dwellinghouse, Frascati, Blackrock, Co. Dublin. The premises were let, counsel said, to the late Mr. Frederick Kennedy at a yearly rent of £136 14s. 6d., and after his death Mrs. Kennedy remained on in possession. The Kennedy estate was being administered in the Court, and it was necessary to get his lordship's permission. There was due to Mrs. Allen £179 19s. 2d., which was more than a year's rent. Income tax had not been paid on the property since the 5th April, 1919, and a claim for £302 6s. 9d. was being made on Mrs. Allen. Counsel opened an affidavit made by Mr. Collis, solicitor for Mrs. Allen, and a replying affidavit made by Mrs. Kennedy.

It appeared that an application was made to the income tax officials on behalf of Mrs. Allen inquiring how much income tax was due in respect of the premises. It was contended on behalf of Mrs. Kennedy that only the hanging half gale's rent is due. Counsel said that Mrs. Kennedy's attitude was: I have not paid income tax, but I am not entitled to deduct it from my rent.

Mr. St. L. Devitt, who (instructed by Mr. Lloyd) appeared for Mrs. Kennedy—She says she has not paid it because it has not been demanded from her.

Mr. Justice Powell made an order giving Mrs. Allen leave to take such proceedings as she might be advised.

Missing from home for five hours, a Glasgow boy, aged three, was found at midnight firmly wedged in a washing-house chimney, 6ft. from the top. The chimney wall was broken, and the boy was extricated, covered with soot, but alive.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE.

OPENING DAY AT NEWMARKET.

DIOPHON'S SURPRISE.

FAVOURITE UNPLACED IN HARE PARK HANDICAP.

(FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.)
NEWMARKET, Tuesday Night.

The King was present when the first of the July meetings opened this afternoon behind the ditch. His Majesty takes very keen interest in these July meetings at Newmarket, for they are entirely informal. There is no suggestion of ceremony about them, and he spends the greater part of his time in strolling about the plantation, looking at the horses and talking with friends. Except for his shooting in the autumn, it is the most complete holiday the King enjoys throughout the year. Princess Mary and Lord Lascelles were present, too. They were, incidentally, among the very first arrivals in the sale paddocks this morning, and spent a long time in inspecting the National Stud yearlings.

The racing throughout the afternoon was not very exciting, but it was, all the same, of the standard that one associates with these functions. Its most interesting feature was the July Stakes, which was won by Diophon, the dark colt from Mr. R. C. Dawson's stable, of whom I wrote last night, by Grand Parade out of that great mare, Donnetta—wonderful alike on the racecourse and as a matron. He was bought for 5,000 guineas for the Aga Khan at the sale of Lord D'Abernon's yearlings at Doncaster last year. He is a chestnut colt of medium height, very well topped and strong-limbed; indeed, he gives the impression of great strength all over. His hocks would be easy to fault, but he is, all the same, quite a workmanlike colt, still backward and babyish, but the makings of a good racehorse.

DIOPHON NOT MUCH FANCIED.

He went very badly in the market, for after threes had been taken he drifted out to sevens. There was no explanation that Mr. Dawson fancied his chance to any great extent, and, as I suggested last night, his trainer does not think him to be a wonder. All the same, he was good enough to win in neat style here from Intrepidate and Sea Bird. The latter, who got very badly away, made up ground at a great rate towards the finish to get where he did.

Tippler, to the general surprise, was a runner in spite of the fact that he had a badly swollen hock last week and had not done much work. He looked very well, indeed, and he was promptly installed a very strong favourite. He was rather slow to get his put in splendid work and, coming with a fine strong run, he got up to beat Obliterate by a length. Hulme punished him rather sharply at the finish and he was all out when he had won.

A BAD DAY FOR SPECULATORS.

It was rather a bad day for speculators, their worst blow being over the Hare Park handicap, where the outsider Jeanne Jennifer, a filly reversed the Ascot form with Varinka, who was made a good favourite from Piccadilly. Sir Abe Bailey's filly beat Advantage easily by a length. Comparing the placings here with those at Ascot, a difference of a pound in the weight made a difference of some half a dozen lengths as between Bessema and Varinka.

Mr. Persse's stable had a big gamble on Saturday's race at Sandown over the Slovene colt, who, it transpired later, was badly hampered. His connections were able to trade at 100 to 30 Lapcastrian, 8 to 1 each Selling Handicap, settling down as

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

MARKETS FLUCTUATING. "CASHEL" AND PROVINCIAL TRAM PREFERENCE FLAT. TEXTILES AND TOBACCOS LOWER. GUINNESS CLOSED DULL.

The talk of an early advance in the official value of money may be prophetic, but some of the moderate increase in the terms for money may be due to the usual tightening-up in accommodation at the close of the half-year, when so many companies strike their balances. Bankers and others like to present balance sheets with the liquid assets a strong feature of the accounts presented to shareholders. Outside of this aspect of the position, the Ruhr reparation situation causing a good deal of misgiving, and hence the tendency of prices has recently been less assured. The official bank terms for accommodation have been very easy for twelve months now, and a moderate increase might not do more than limit commitments carried on with the aid of borrowed money.

General business was limited on 'Change. The leading Funds, like Consols and War Loan, were supported, while Irish and Stock actually advanced further, but Conversion, Funding, and India Stocks gave way. The only change in Banking securities was a fresh advance in Royals. Guinness Shares were quiet, and closed dull, but City Steam was less firm. Marconi Ord. were firmer. The feature in Home Rails was a fall of a couple of points in Great Southern and Western Ord. Stock, and the Debs. of the company were also on offer at a slight decline. Provincial Tram Pref. were offered substantially under last price. Switzer Shares were again scarce, and enhanced prices were established for the Pref. and Deb. Shares. Leading Tobaccos gave way about 1s. a share. Textiles were easier, but Coats closed a little higher. Lever Brothers Pref. issues were offered rather freely at a slight concession. Barke Debs. improved further.

In the Funds, Consols repeated 58⅝, and War Loan 5 p.c. 101¼-⅜. Irish Land 2½ p.c. rose ½ to 61½, but Funding Loan fell ¼ to 61⅛. Conversion Loan ⅛ to 79½, and India 3½ p.c. ½ to 69½.

Banks were steady. Bank Stock repeated 38, and Munster and Leinsters 8¼, while Royals rose ½ to 13½ for an odd lot, and National fell ¼ to 19⅝.

Marconi Ord. rose 1s. to 46s. 3d.-4os. 6d. Home Railways were quiet, but the fall of ½ to 50 in Great Southern Ord. was a point of interest. The Pref. Stock repeated 64, and the Guaranteed Debs. closed on 87 after 72, or ¼ under last price. Midland Great Western rallied ¼ to 35½, and the 4 p.c. Rent Charge Guaranteed rose ½ to 59. Great Northern Debs. were still bid for at 80, the previous quotation.

In Trams, Provincial Pref. closed on offer at 7, against 5½, the last business done level. Dunlop Rubber Ord. repeated 8s. 10½d. for a few shares.

Among Drapery Shares, Switzer Pref. rose 2s. 3d. to 75s., and the Debs. ½ to 6¾, while Ord. repeated 77s. 6d., but Arnott Pref. closed 7½d. to 78s. 11½d.

As regards Manufacturing Shares, British-American Tobacco fell 1s. to 59s. 9d., and Imperials 1s. to 69s. 9d. Lever Brothers 7 p.c. eased 11d. to 25s. 11½ x.d., and the 8 p.c. 5d. to 22s. x.d. Courtaulds gave way 1s. 4½d. to 65s. 7½d.

In Trading, etc., Shares, Burke Debs. rose to 83, while the Pref. repeated 78s., and Hibernian Five 5s.

Mexican Eagle Oils fell away to 16s. 6d., and Shells to 74s. 6d.

FALLING STOCKS.

WAR LOANS HEAVILY SOLD.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT AND THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

No improvement was manifested yesterday in public sentiment with regard to the foreign political situation, and the Stock markets continued dull with prices easier in all departments. Gilt-edged Securities were weak under a good deal of selling pressure. There was a considerable amount of liquidation on the part of foreign holders of British Funds, especially the shorter-dated War Stocks, and this caused a subsidence in practically the entire market list. Victory Bonds, Funding Loan, and Conversion Loans suffered the biggest sideout, the latter closing sellers at 79⅛. As India Stocks experienced a setback, the declines varying from ½ to 1. Colonial issues were governed by the same tendency, and the slumps were all easier. A welcome feature was the partial recovery made by "Canpacs" Owing the sharp fall of the previous day. The outstanding feature in the Trunk market was the advancement of Grand Trunk Pref. 4 p.c. Debs. by 7 to 44½. At one time they stood at 36. Home Railway Prior Charge Securities continued on a downward course, and where quotations were altered they were generally a point lower. Similarly there was a semblance of a lull in the decline in Foreign Rails. Argentine Stocks were marked lower, and so were Havanas, Leos, and Antofagastas, but the rails, on the whole, were not quite so heavy as on Monday.

LONDON STOCKS UNSETTLED.

NERVOUS FEELING.

London Stock markets continue to be most unsettled, and fluctuations yesterday showed considerable nervousness. The international situation uncertainty, together with fears of financial difficulties, prevented further liquidation during the opening hours; but on the cessation of selling a sharp recovery took place, without much business being transacted. Towards the close conditions became uncertain again. The Gilt-edged market was generally lower, and among British Funds several declines were recorded. The Funding Loan fell ½ to 91½, Victory Bonds ½ to 92½, Conversion Loan ½ to 79, India 3 per cent. Loan fell ½ to 69½, and the 3½ per cent. ½ to 69½. Local Loans fell to 67½.

FOREIGN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES were quiet, but prices declined where they changed. Brazil Fours of 1889 fell 1 to 42 of interest. The Pref. Stock repeated 64, and the Guaranteed 70, while the Debs. closed on offer at 72, or ½ under last price. Midland Great Western rallied ¼ to 35½, and the 4 p.c. Rent Charge Guaranteed rose ½ to 59. Great Northern Debs. were still bid for at 80, the previous quotation.

In Trams, Provincial Pref. closed on offer at 7, against 5½, the last business done level. Dunlop Rubber Ord. repeated 8s. 10½d. for a few shares.

Among Drapery Shares, Switzer Pref. rose 2s. 3d. to 75s., and the Debs. ½ to 6¾, while Ord. repeated 77s. 6d., but Arnott Pref. closed 7½d. to 78s. 11½d.

As regards Manufacturing Shares, British-American Tobacco fell 1s. to 59s. 9d., and Imperials 1s. to 69s. 9d. Coats Ord. rose 5d. to 68s. 4½d., but Bleachers fell 7½d. to 47s. 6d., and Cottons 5d. to 50s. Brunner, Mond-Shares remain at 36s. 3d. OIL SHARES DULL.

RALLY IN "EAGLES."

Like most other sections of the Stock Exchange, the Oil Share market had none too bright appearance during the early hours of yesterday, which was traceable to the nervousness regarding the international situation. In the afternoon, however, an improvement became noticeable, in which Oil Shares participated, and although the early losses were not in all cases made good, the tendency was distinctly better at the close. Chief interest once more centred on Mexican Eagles, which further weakened during the early hours, but made a good rally later in the day, the low price to which they had fallen on Monday attracting speculative buying. The demand found this market in an over-sold condition, and the prices moved up smartly, while, although no check occurred towards the end, an appreciable recovery was still shown on balance. Shells were depressed at one time, but rallied from the worst, while Royal Dutch, which moved within narrow limits, were finally only a trifle down. A further decline occurred in Anglo-Persians, and the market is becoming concerned at the steady fall which has taken place in the shares. Burmahs again weakened, although the closing price was above the worst. Following a dull start, V.O.C. Holdings met with a steady demand, to which the price responded, but the gain was not held, the shares finishing without alteration.

Controlled issues gave way further during the early hours, but hardened later, and finally showed small gains. In easier tendency characterised Trinidad issues. Losses were marked in Centrals, Leaseholds, and Apex. The production of the Apex for the past month amounts to 9,000 tons as compared with 9,100 tons in May, while deliveries to the leaseholds totalled 10,000 tons as against 12,000 tons. There was a fairly large turnover in Phœnix Oils, which, following a sharp decline as the result of some fairly heavy offering, made a partial recovery, while among other Rumanians Steaua Romana, British, and Hamiltons showed losses. Anglo-Egyptian B were unaffected by the announcement of the production figures for the past week, the output being 2,848 tons, which compares with 2,065 for the preceding week. Closing prices:—
